ARRESTS MADE IN STRIKE VIOLENCE

Crowd Said to Have Threatened Burlington Workmen With Axe Fights Police Before Order is Restored.

HURL GAS BOMBS IN OFFICER'S CAR

Man and Woman Taken to Jail Following Disturbance at Second and J — Crowd Invades Federal Building and Demands Release of Pair.

The first clash beteen striking rioters and police, county and federal officers occurred shortly before 9 a. m. Friday in the vicinity of Second and J Streets, when the officers placed Tom Baker, 23, living at 104 J street, and Mrs. Margaret Blum, 52, living at 510 South First street under arrest. The officers hastened to the scene when a report reached them from Burlington guards, that a mob armed with axes was chasing a Mexican railroad employe.

When Deputy United States Marshal J. C. McClung appeared on the scene, accompanied by three railroad guards, he was met with gas bombs which apparently were thrown into the car. Marshal McClung was almost overcome by the fumes, and at noon Friday, was still ill from the effects of the gas. E. C. Hanning and H. G. Stewart, guards, were also made sick by the fumes. Marshal McClung was unable to drive his car after the encounter. The prisoners were taken to the county jail.

Woman Lead Attack.

Marshal McClung was the first on the scene after reports of trouble reached the city. With Hanning, Stewart and Cal Brodey, three guards, the marshal made his way into the center of a mob that had gathered at the entrance of an alley in front of a public school at Second and J streets.

Captain Walter Anderson, heading a party of police officers consisting of Detective N. F. Schneible, Major Gross, Patrolmen Jake White and Harry Yapp, arrived but a few moments later and elbowed their way through the crowd to McClung's side.

Marshal McClung was speaking to Tom Baker, said to have been one of the leaders of the mob.

"What is your name," the federal officer asked the man, informing him that he was under arrest.

"It's none of your d—— business," the man is quoted as replying by the officers.

"We'll just take that man to jail," Captain Anderson said, walking forward, and at the same time McClung seized Baker by the collar.

In a moment a number of women who had been standing around rushed forward with shrieks and wails. Most of the women were armed with bricks and clubs.

While McClung and several other officers were struggling with Baker to put him in the marshal's car, Mrs. Margaret Blum, armed with a baseball bat came rushing from across the street and with the club above her head headed for Captain Anderson, according to the officer.

Captain Anderson caught her by the wrist and Officer Yapp came to his assistance. Mrs. Blum weights about 200 pounds and she put up a terrific fight, using her fists, scratching and biting and kicking, the police said. The officers finally succeded in putting her into the car.

In the meantime several cars with deputy sheriffs arrived on the scene and the mob had swelled, as scores of women, men and boys piled out of neighboring streets and and mixed in the melee.

Marshal McClung got into his car and drove off with the two who had been placed under arrest. Hanning and several deputies went with him. It was on the way to the county jail that Marshal McClung was taken sick and had to relinquish the wheel. The others were also taken ill.

May Face U. S. Charges.

Both Baker and Mrs. Blum will face federal charges of contempt of court, according to Assistant United States District Attorney Don W. Stewart. Affidavits were being prepared Friday noon at the district attorney's office, preliminary to the issuance of federal warrants.

According to the Burlington guards stationed near Second and J streets, trouble had been brewing there all of Thursday night. About twenty-five pickets were said to have been congregated around the picket post and rocks were thrown at intervals all night at patrolling Burlington guards and employes, they claimed.

Beginning about 7 a. m. Friday, the strikers at the picket post there, according to the Burlington guards began to stop everybody who went by.

Shortly after 8 a. m. Friday, the guards saw a mob of about 100 people chasing a Mexican railroad employe. The crowd was armed with clubs and axes, and chased the Mexican into a house on J street, where he is alleged to have secured a gun, according to the guards.

At this stage, riot calls were sent in to the city and officers hurried out.

According to one of the Burlington guards, who witnessed the pursuit of the Mexican, a woman sought to restrain the mob from chasing the Mexican and a man in the crowd knocked her down with his fist.

About 11 a. m. Friday, a crowd of about 50 strikers invaded the federal building to demand that Marshal McClung release the two prisoners, especially Mrs Blum. Their request was denied.

United States Marshal Dennis H. Cronin, when informed over long distance telephone at Omaha of the clash and arrests, instructed that all the jails "be filled" if necessary, to maintain order.

Woman Makes Charge.

Mrs. Marie Baker, wife of the arrested man, accompanied by Dr. Inez C. Philbrick, called at the sheriff's office later and complained that one of the officers knocked her into the mud in a ditch when she attempted to interfere in the arrest of her husband.

According to Captain Anderson, who refused to arrest her because of her delicate condition, she slipped and fell into the mudhole while seeking to annoy the officers. This is corroborated by other eye-witnesses.

Brill Offers Reward.

Thursday night, about 8:30 o'clock a mob numbering at least 1,500 according to Captain Anderson, gathered in the F street park, and after being dispersed by officers, gathered again a few minutes later and started to march toward the home of Louis Brill, 1314 South Seventh street. Captain Anderson and Officer Schneible had gone to the Brill home from the park, and were there when the crowd came up. When Captain Anderson saw the size of the mob he called on the sheriff's office and the police department for reinforcements. The sheriff and his deputies responded promptly, and together with reinforcements from the police, the officers, fourteen strong, succeeded finally in dispersing the crowd, which was in a very ugly mood. Patrolmen and deputies remained on guard all night near the Brill home.

Mr. Brill Friday morning announced that he would pay a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest of the persons who early Thursday morning threw some sort of an obnoxious mixture on the house, the fumes of which overcame Mrs. Brill and caused other members of the family to get ill. Mrs. Brill has recovered from the effects of the gas.

Ransom, secretary to George Creel when he was war time director of the bureau of public information. The young woman contends that Mr. Woodward promised to marry her and failed to do so.

NEBRASKA VOTE IN DIGEST POLL

Strict Enforcement of Prohibition Act Still Has a Good Lead.

Results of Nation-Wide Ballot On Bonus and Dry Issue.

Nebraska's vote in the Literary Digest national poll on prohibition and the soldier bonus has increased greatly this week, but proportionately it runs very nearly the same as before. The advocates of light wines and beer have gained a little, but strict prohibition enforcement still has a good lead.

The Nebraska showing is as follows: For strict enforcement, 599; for amendment of Volstead law, 527; for repeal of 18th amendment, 177.

In a total of about 480,000 votes for the entire country the division stands:

Strict enforcement, 181,704; modification, 196,884; repeal, 101,475.

Soldier bonus advocates are now in the minority, by reason of a heavy adverse vote from the New England and middle Atlantic states. The number voting for it is 223,613 against 241,440.

Nebraska continues to support the bonus, its vote being recorded as herewith: For, 803; against, 555. In the group of seven states to which Nebraska belongs, six favor the bonus and only one—Missouri—opposes it by a slight majority.

CITY OFFICIALS SOUND WARNING ABOUT RIOTING

Police Department Promises More Drastic Action—Daylight Patrol Put On.

Burlington Executives and City Commissioners Hold a Conference.

Warning that further trouble in the west bottoms of Lincoln among the Russian settlements will force officers to bring deportation proceedings against the offenders, was sounded by officials Friday morning following the riot at First and J streets which resulted in two arrests and the strenuous use of police "billies."

Thoroughly aroused at last, the police department announced that the gloved hand methods would be dropped and that the bottoms would be patrolled and kept peaceful if it was necessary to employ additional men to do so. Mayor Zehrung and Commissioner Dayton before whom the Burlington officials laid evidence of violence during a conference on Thursday afternoon and evening, were agreed that the city would be able to handle the situation from now on and that Burlington employes and property would be safe-guarded.

Heated Conference.

Day patrolmen were stationed in the vicinity after it was shown Friday morning that daylight rioting would result if the police were present only at night. The conference between city officials and the Burlington officials was a lengthy one and at times was rather heated. Tom Smith Burlington special agents who has frequently complained of lack of police support, and Commissioner Dayton were understood to have had some words but both Mr. Smith and Mr. Dayton declined to comment on their argument Friday. City officials argued that they knew of no disturbances in Lincoln although daily papers had been carrying reports of assaults and rioting in the bottoms for nearly a week but before Superintendent Flynn had laid half his evidence before the representatives of the city, they were ready to agree that the time had come for action.

Mayor Zehrung points out that the strikers themselves are opposed to the rioting and that the local officials say they are taking all possible means of stopping the trouble. Burlington guards and police officers bore marks of the Friday morning encounter and joined with officials in declaring they would take future riot duty more seriously.

Shoots at Owl But Misses; 200 Phones Out of Commission

An irate householder living near Twenty-third and B streets, was unable to sleep as late as usual Friday morning because of a hoot owl which serenaded him from a nearby tree. He took a shot at the offending bird but in the early morning his aim was poor and instead of hitting the owl he severed a telephone cable carrying four hundred telephone wires. As a consequence between two and three hundred telephones in the Randolph district were out of order Friday and a crew of six men were working all day to repair the damage.

Woman Is Victim Of Her Own Trap

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Aug. 4.—A trap set by Mrs. Earl Feute, of Glen Carbon, ten miles south of here, to catch thieves who have visited her hen house recently, proved to be her own death trap yesterday when she was electrocuted by inadvertently touching the wire, which carried a voltage of 110.

BIG FOUR RESTLESS

Leaders of the Enginemen's Brotherhoods Charge Defective Locomotives Are Being Operated and Menace Lives of Operators.

SAY WILL MAKE AN ENERGETIC PROTEST

Alleged That In Many Instances Engineers Have Been Threatened With Punishment Before Taking Engine On Run.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Drastic action by the Big Four of the railway brotherhoods is imminent as a result of the alleged perilous condition of rolling stock on the railroads. Brotherhood leaders in Washington made this declaration in international News Service today.

They charged defective locomotives are being operated by the railroads in violation of federal laws.

At the same time it became known that labor leaders are gathering data for an energetic protest to congress and it is possible an investigation of the interstate commerce commission will be asked for allege laxity in enforcing federal laws.

Engineers in many instances are being urged to drive locomotives that are badly in need of repairs and in some cases they are not being coaxed, but threatened with punishment if they do not drive the engines, said H. E. Wills, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers.

He added: This is in direct violation of the agreement entered into in Chicago several weeks ago between the brotherhoods and the executives providing that no engineer should be called or compelled to operate a defective locomotive.

Dynamite Under Situation.

"There is dynamite under the whole locomotive situation. Action will be taken within a few days," Wills added.

Wills is the representative in Washington of Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with headquarters in Cleveland.

A veritable flood of complaints from engineers has begun to pour in upon local chairmen, who in turn are committing the complaints to headquarters in Cleveland, it was said.

A number of senators are also in receipt of appeals from engineers and other organizations throughout the country, especially through the west, calling upon them to demand investigation of the allege violation of laws in the non-retirement of locomotives that are a menace to lives and property.

According to information reaching labor circles here today, officials of the "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods and of the railroad clerks, telegraphers and maintenance of way employees will come to Washington within the next few days to protest to President Harding against the condition of locomotives.

It was said the statement of the union officials to the president would be in the form of an "ultimatum," voicing the belief that it was unsafe for them to continue to work on equipment badly in need of repairs as a result of the shopmen's strike.

ANOTHER TRUSTY MAKES GETAWAY

Frank Taylor Goes After Milk But Fails to Return.

Had Been Inmate of Penitentiary Less Than Six Months.

Frank Taylor, a trusty, who had been a prisoner at the Nebraska state penitentiary but a little over five months made his escape early Friday morning and no trace of him had been found late Friday afternoon. Taylor started out shortly before 4 a. m., to do the morning milking, as had been his daily custom. When he failed to return with the milk at the customary time an investigation was started and it was then discovered that the trusty had walked away.

A state reward of $50 has been offered for Taylor's arrest. Prison officials request that information concening Taylor's whereabouts be wired to Warden W. T. Fenton.

Taylor was 52 years old, weighed 125 pounds and was 5 feet 7 inches tall. He wore a black hat, khaki trousers and light shirt at the time of his disappearance.

The missing prisoner was received at Lancaster February 20, 1922, under sentence of two to four years for forgery, committed in Douglas county.

Taylor is the second trusty to escape from the state prison within a month. On the Fourth of July Ed Youell, who had enjoyed outside privileges at the institution as a trusty, decided that he wanted still more freedom and took French leave. He is still enjoying his liberty.

Northcliffe at Point of Death

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Lord Northcliffe, famous British publisher, who is ill with heart trouble, suffered a sinking spell and it was reliably reported today that he was at the point of death. He was in a state of great exhaustion. There has been considerable mystery about the publisher's illness due to the desultory manner in which bulletins were issued.

Girl Stowaways On Ocean Liner Have Good Time

CHERBOURG, Aug. 4.—Two young girl stowaways from New York found on the steamship Majestic enjoyed every minute of their trans-Atlantic trip. When the big White Star liner arrived here today both Anna Muller and Katherine Fleming, the 13-year-old chums who secreted themselves in one of the Majestic's lifeboats before she sailed last Saturday, declared they had had a merry time.

"The captain as a regular old dear," said Anna, "but the ship's cook—he's the most wonderful man I ever saw."

"Just the same we'll be glad to get home," chimed in Katherine. "I really never dreamed the Atlantic was such a big ocean."

The stowaways will be returned to New York on the next westward trip of the liner.

SMEAR PAINT ON HAVELOCK HOMES

Houses of Three Burlington Foremen Are Secretly Defaced.

One Lincoln Home is Also Treated to Unwelcome Decoration.

The homes of three Havelock shop foremen have been smeared with paint during the last two nights. On Thursday night the homes of I. J. Deremer, 1617 O street, and Joe Clemons, who lives on Touzalin avenue, were subjected to such daubing, and on Wednesday night the home of Charles Schieffele, 2017 O street, received the same treatment.

A new method of applying the paint without detection has been found. It is done by taking out the meats of eggs and filling the cavity with paint. The "egg bombs" are thrown against the homes from the streets or secluded spots.

A disturbance was created in the east section of Havelock late Thursday night by the placing of a half-dozen torpedoes on the street car rails. When a street car ran over the torpedoes they exploded and Burlington officials, guards and peace officers rushed to the scene.

Sheriff Ira Miller swore in ten more guards for the Burlington in Havelock, Thursday. The railroad now has between 150 and 160 watchmen at its Havelock shops. Shop Superintendent W. F. Ackerman stated Friday noon that up to date the Burlington has about 360 new employes in its Havelock shops and that between twenty-five and thirty men made application for jobs Friday morning.

Postal Employe's Home Daubed

A mob said to have been composed of about twenty men, carrying flashlights, daubed yellow paint about 3 a. m. Friday on the house occupied by James W. Simmons, 1109 North Twenty-nineth street, a mail carrier who works out of station C.

According to Mr. Simmons, he has no idea who perpetrated the act, and did not hear any distrubance during the night. Mr. Simmons stated Friday noon that he had no connection with the strike, except that his son Kenneth was employed at the Burlington roundhouse, west of the city.

Mr. Simmons said that he had not been annoyed before, but that there had been numerous anonymous telephone calls in which threats were made.

Police officers said that they had no knowledge of any distrubance in the vicinity of Twenty-ninth and Y streets Thursday night.

LONG HAS HOPES WLL WIN RACE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 4.—His face all smiles, Senator James A. Reed left here early today for St. Louis to confer with his campaign manager prior to returning to Washington.

"Not a word until it's official," said "Fighting Jim" when asked to comment on his apparent victory over Breckenridge Long for the democratic senatorial nomination.

It was said in political circles here today that Long will demand an official count of the returns.

Phones Silent in Tribute to Bell

For one minute beginning at 5:25 p. m. Friday all telephones over the United States will be silent marking the nation's tribute to the late Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, whose body will be lowered in the grave at that hour. The management of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company announces that its lines will be silenced for this period out of respect to the great inventor.

CALL FOR MEETING

Chairman McCloud of G. O. P. State Committee Summons Party Candidates to Conference at Governor's Mansion Saturday.

CHECKMATES MOVE BY R. BEECHER HOWELL

National Committeeman and Candidate for Senate Had Previously Suggested Candidates Get Together.

Candidates on the republican state ticket have been invited by Chairman C. A. McCloud of the state committee to meet Saturday afternoon at the governor's mansion in Lincoln and discuss matters of direct interest to them, including the party platform to be adopted by the state convention which will meet here on August 15.

In view of Governor McKelvie's desire to have the convention endorse his code law, coupled with the fact that Mr. McCloud was made chairman two years ago as the governor's personal choice, the calling of this conference is thought to be in part at least a move for the purpose of securing the candidates' consent to such a plank in the platform.

Knowing that the code law will be under fire from the democrats throughout the campaign, the governor and his friends are anxious to commit their own party to it by a platform declaration. If this is done, it is understood that Governor McKelvie will tender his services for a number of speeches for the republican ticket, though he is not a candidate himself.

Forestalls R. B. Howell.

A week ago, National Committeeman R. B. Howell, who is the republican nominee for United States senator, addressed letters the other candidates on the ticket suggesting that they get together and talk things over. Howell indicated that as soon as he had heard from all the candidates on this matter he would write them again; but in the meantime State Chairman McCloud has stepped in and called a meting independently of the national committeeman.

In his invitation to the state nominees for Saturday's meeting, which is set for 2 o'clock says that each of them will be previleged to bring a

GATHERING FOR MONDAY PARLEY

Coal Operators and Miners Will Make Effort to Draft Wage Scale.

Illinois Man Says Not Many Owners Will Attend Cleveland Meeting.

(International News Service.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug 4.—The advance guard of miners and operators in the central competitive field is expected to arrive in Cleveland late today for the joint conference called for Monday by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America as having in view the adoption of a wage scale which will permit the resumption of coal mining in the union fields.

Despite the refusal of the Pittsburgh Operators' association and the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange to be officially represented members of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' association, which maintains headquarters here, predicted that individual members of both of these operators' organizations as well as representatives of all other organizations in the central field and the many independent operators would be present or accept the findings of the conference.

Says Few Will Attend.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—A canvass of coal operators in the central competitive field, according to an announcement made today by representatives of Illinois operators, indicates that only district No. 8 of Ohio, comprising about 5 per cent of the tonnage of the entire field, will be present at the wage conference called for next Monday in Cleveland by John L. Lewis, international president of the miners.

Local coal circles see little hope of a wage agreement for the central competitive field, declaring that settlement of the strike must come through separate state agreements.

Situation Critical.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Illinois, restricted to its own supply of coal, faces the most critical situation that it has been compelled to face, according to Robert M. Medill, state fuel director.

Protection is to be assured the twenty-six penal, reformatory and charitable institutions and possibly to the University of Illinois and the state normal schools.

Mr. Medill left Chicago late yesterday for Springfield where he went to confer with Acting Governor Sterling.

CAVINESS WILL NOT RESIGN NOW

May Continue Indefinitely as President of Peru Normal.

Committee is Given More Time to Investigate Complaints.

President A. L. Caviness of the Peru state normal school will not resign his position prior to the opening of the next school year, State Superintendent Matzen declared Friday. Whether there will be a resignation later on Matzen says he has no information. For all he knows, Caviness will continue indefinitely as president of the Peru institution.

At the Omaha meeting of the state normal board last Tuesday, no report was made by the committee which recently went to Peru and inquired into complaints of citizens there against the management of the normal school. Fred Berry of Wayne, chairman of the committee, asked for more time. The board is to meet again in Lincoln on October 5, and the report will probably be made then.

Among the bills approved by the board and ordered paid were the following at the Kearney normal:

For band instruments, $302, including $143 for a clairnet and $125 for a saxophone; 10 dozen tennis balls, $45; one dozen baseballs, $15; another dozen baseballs, $14; 3 tennis nets, $12.75.

MAY TRY ONCE MORE

Strongly Intimated In Cabinet Quarters Friday Morning That Next Twenty-Four Hours Will See Another Attempt Made to End Strike.

OTHER RAIL UNIONS GROW DISSATISFIED

Declared In National Capital That Failure of Harding's Formula to Be Accepted Was Due to Misunderstanding By Heads of Two Factions.

(International News Service.)
(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Representatives of the six striking shop crafts unions on the Southern railway, will meet in Washington tomorrow with H. W. Miller, vice president in charge of operations on the system, to consider proposals for settlement of the strike on the basis suggested by President Harding to the executives of all the railroads.

New Peace Effort Looms.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—President Harding met with his cabinet today for another inventory of the industrial situation, admitted by government officials generally to be daily growing more serious, and more dangerous in its potentialities.

Today's meeting was the sixth consecutive session that has been devoted entirely to discussion of the rail and coal strikes and methods of remedying them. It was not considered that there will be any decisive action by the government in the coal strike, the tendency being to await the result of efforts John L. Lewis is making to settle the strike by means of a joint conference with operators in Cleveland on Monday.

In the rail strike however, it was strongly intimated in cabinet quarters today there will be important developments within twenty-four hours and the belief was prevalent that another peace thrust is imminent.

Conditions "Intolerable."

Conditions in the railroad field were officially described today as being "intolerable" and to the already chaotic condition that prevails in some sections was added today the menace of the dissatisfaction spreading to other classes of railroad workers besides the shopmen, who, up to this time, have had no part in the strike.

Labor leaders asserted today that the summary turn down given President Harding's peace program by the executives in New York has had a tremendous effect upon all railroad labor, creating a state of restlessness and suspicion that is daily becoming more apparent.

The dissatisfaction has been increased among those still working by the deterioration of equipment—noticeably among the four powerful brotherhoods.

Lending color to the intimations of another peace move being impending were reports current today in high quarters that the failure of the president's original peace program was due entirely to a "regrettable misunderstanding."

What happened according to the

CHURCH NOT TOO WELL ORGANIZED

Speakers Deplore Lack of Consecration But Would Retain Activities.

Dr. Edwards Defends Bible Miracles in Assembly Sermon Friday.

"Is the church machinery too complicated and is there too much of it?"—a question that is of outstanding importance in Methodist circles at the present time, was thoroughly discussed at the 9 o'clock conference at the Epworth Assembly Friday morning. Decisions arrived at in this great meeting of methodists are known to have a far-reaching effect in determining the policies of the denomination. The weight of the argument Friday seemed to be on the side of organization, especially in the larger churches.

Rev. Ray S True of Syracuse upheld the principle of organization, and he with other speakers, noted that this is an age of specialization and machinery, and that the church must make use of modern methods to accomplish results. The great increase in activities of the Methodist church during the past four years was brought out, as an outstanding example.

Mr. Lynch, of Trinity congregation, who teaches a Sunday school class at the City Mission, took the stand that the primary religious purposes of the church are being overshadowed by too much social machinery. Others developed a powerful argument by asking specifically what activities should be dropped, when all were found to have strong supporters. One speaker said the greatest fault with the church is not too much organization, but not enough consecration. Dr. Benjamin A. Cram presied at the discussion.

Dr. Edwards on Miracles.

Dr. Loren Edwards, in his Friday morning sermon, defended the Biblical miracles. Critics base their disbelief in their own egotism in refusing to believe anything not within the range of their own understanding, he said. Scholars argue that being given facts and causes, results will be constant. This was not denied by Dr. Edwards, who suggested, however, that other facts, causes and laws might be superimposed by a superior intelligence, totally changing results. He mentioned the X-ray, radio and airplane as examples of what would have formerly been considered miracles, because not understood. The change in lives effected through spiritual power, the personal transformation due to Christian inspiration, he named as a present ay miracle of the first class.

Wednesday, August 9, will be University Place day at the Assembly. On that day all places of business will be closed in the suburb. At 2 p. m., Monday, Charles strader, former official of the Assembly, will present a plan to the members, whereby each church will build a permanent tent cottage at Epworth Lake park, which will be used by the local delegation of young people during Epworth institute, and by the pastor and his family during the Assembly. Several churches now have such cottages on the grounds.

The tennis tournament got under way Friday, with forty-one men and fourteen women entered. A woman's boat race has been arrange by Rev. Alfred Hunt for Saturday afternoon.

No efinite figures are yet available on attenance at the Assembly, but both the campers and day admissions are above the average according to President C. A Fulmer. There are forty more cottages on the ground than last year, and 210 tents compared with 171 in 1921. The number staying permanently on the grounds is conservatively estimated at 2,000. More than that number go out from Lincoln each day to attend the programs

CHAPTER XXXIV.

The butler opened the door of the Hollingshead home as Adelaide hurried up the front step.

"I was watchin for you," he remarked. "Miss Patricia has asked several times if you was home yet."

"The storm delayed me," was the brief response. Then she went on upstairs.

Patricia was waiting for her outside Mrs. Hollingshead's door.

"I am glad you're home at last!" she exclaimed. "I have been sitting on a tack for the past half hour. I expected you back at 5."

"I am sorry," Adelaide apologized. "There was a mistake about the order for the taxi and the streets are hard to drive through."

"Well, never mind about that," was the impatient rejoinder. "Just run up and take off your things and come down to mother. I shall be late as it is."

"I will take my coat and hat off here, so as not to delay you longer," Adelaide suggested, suiting the action to the word.

"Good!" the rich girl approved. "Estelle!" she called to the maid who was passing through the hall, "come and take Miss Brown's things up to her room. Now," to Adelaide, "go in to mother and prepare her for the fact that I shall be out late. I have not dared tell her the truth. She has been putting me through the third degree to make me say at what hour I expect to return. Do steer her off that track."

"I will do my best," Adelaide said. She turned away and, all once more irritated with this favorite of fortune who expected all things to serve her whims.

Mrs. Hollingshead greeted the attendant with a smile that was tremulous. She was plainly more nervous than she had been earlier in the afternoon.

"Oh, my dear," she complained, "I have a horrid headache."

"That is too bad," the girl sympathized. "Have you sat up too long?"

"No. I was all right when Henry left me an hour ago. But my talk with Patty upset me. I hoped to have a good talk with the child, but somehow I didn't. I asked her about the affairs she had been attending lately, but she told me only a little and did not seem disposed to tell me more. About her dinner tonight, for instance."

A Difficult Position

"What about it?" Adelaide asked. She must ascertain how much the parent knew.

"That is what I tried to find out. I asked Patty what was going on. She said, 'Mr. Forsythe. You have never met the man, although Patty has spoken of him.'

"Your son knows him," the girl remarked.

"Then I suppose he does. But Patty did not say where she is going to dinner—or anything. She just said, 'With some friends.' If you know the plans, please explain them to me."

Adelaide hesitated. She must say something reassuring for the chair fingers were twisting and gripping one another. She laid her warm hand on them.

"I have not asked about the plans. But I know that Mr. Forsythe and your daughter with another couple are going to dine at a restaurant. They are giving your son a lift as he starts at the same time."

"I see! As he is going out of town I suppose they will leave him at the Grand Central, then go to a restaurant to dinner," the mother opined.

"Just see how easy it all sounds when you even worry me," the girl commented.

"But Patty would not stay where it is coming home. She insisted that she did not know."

"Of course she [illegible]," Adelaide affirmed. "It's not the sort of thing one would want to say when one will return with [illegible] is with friends who may want to linger."

"Do you think I will be later than ten o'clock?" was the fluttering question. "I want to get a little rest time."

Perhaps she will be [illegible] her companion said soothingly. "In the meantime you could have a nice quiet cup of coffee. Let me tell you what I will do. I will take this afternoon."

She chatted [illegible] now the taxi [illegible] was late in calling for her. She [illegible] mention the detail. After [illegible] Hollingshead had sent her [illegible] town in a cab she said as the day was cold and dark.

Still Suspicious.

Estelle said a while ago that it was snowing," the invalid observed. "That is one reason I was worried about Patty's going out. Automobiles skid sometimes."

"Not such an one as she and her friends will be in," was the assertion. "The streets are perfectly safe for a big limousine like that."

"I am glad Dick is going to Westchester by train," the parent said next. "I would be wild with anxiety if he was going to drive his car out."

"Well I am not going to drive my car out!"

This assertion from the doorway in which Richard appeared at that moment, made the mother start. Then she smiled.

"I am thankful you are not going by automobile," she said. "Trains are safer."

"Yes, lots safer," the young man agreed with a wink at the attendant. "Bye-bye, Mater! I will see you tomorrow. Here comes Patty to say good-night. Two such dutiful children!"

"Because we are forced to be!" muttered the daughter as, swathed in furs, she entered the room. "And it's an infernal nuisance, if you ask me!"

She was evidently in a bad humor and took no pains to conceal the fact.

Nominate Dead Man for Congress In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4.—Despite the fact that he died Wednesday former Congressman Lemuel P. Padgett of Columbia, has been renominated for congress from the Seventh congressional district. He has defeated his competitor, William T. Salmon also of Columbia, by a majority of between 1,000 and 1,500 votes according to incomplete and unoffical returns.

These returns show that the deceased congressman has carried six of the ten counties in the district.

The movement to nominate Mr. Padgett for his twelfth term despite the fact that he is dead, took form yesterday afternoon, when his friends formed a hasty organization and made an appeal to vote for him.

What effect the nomination of the former congressman will have is problematical. The purpose of it was to force a new election and to allow other candidates to enter the race.

Turn Attention to Justice of Supreme Court

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 4.—With the republican gubernatorial race apparently decided in favor of W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson newspaperman, the outcome of the contest for the republican nomination for supreme court justice division No. 1, seemed to attract most of the attention today in Tuesday's primary election. With thirty-seven counties remaining to be heard from, Attorney General Richard Hopkins had a lead of slightly over 2,000 in this race over Justice Silas Porter who has been on the supreme court bench fifteen years. The count, with some 500 precincts missing showed, Hopkins, 68,696, Porter, 66,402.

The missing precincts, it is believed, will increase Hopkins' lead. His decisions, as attorney general on the industrial court and his strict enforcement of that law are believed to have caused the labor element in the industrial centers to vote against him.

INHERITS WEALTH ONLY TO STARVE

Former Falls City Man With Fortune Dies of Hunger.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., Aug. 4.—Judson H. Smith, 63, formerly of Falls City, who seven years ago inherited about $50,000 from his brother's estate, died of starvation at West Palm Beach, Fla., according to a message received here Thursday.

Little is known of what induced his starvation as Smith left here about thirty-five years ago immediately after his father's suicide on a farm near Falls City and he was not heard of again until his brother's death seven years ago. He was always regarded as eccentric and it was only after repeated efforts that he was induced to accept his share of the estate. He still retained some holdings here, though their value will not exceed $3,000.

Smith's mother was a member of the Orendorff family of Illinois, associated with the Parlin-Orendorff Implement company.

Hoboes Beat Up Guards and Are Later Arrested

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Aug. 4.—Five hoboes are in jail and will be charged with assaulting two Rock Island guards early Thursday morning. The guards had finished a lunch at Fisher's cafe and it is alleged the five men attacked them when they came out, striking and fighting them. The guards are not seriously injured and assisted Rock Island Special Police Demit and two other men in following the assailants fifteen miles east, just south of Harbine where they were captured and brought back to jail.

This, as far as can be ascertained has no connection with the strike, railway company or strikers. The strikers here have been orderly and Supt. Tinstman of the Nebraska division is authority for the statement that the Fairbury strikers are orderly with the exception of a very few.

A few men are working in the shops. Of the 186 men ordinarily employed in the Rock Island about fifty are now working. However none of the strikers have returned to work and very few mechanics are on the job, it is said.

HASTINGS IS SUED BY KOEHN ESTATE

Ask $160,000 On Account of Death Caused By Fire Truck.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Aug. 4.—As an outgrowth of a fatal accident here last year, when a pike pole projecting from a city truck penetrated the throat of Mrs. Otto E. Koehn of Norfolk, who was riding in a taxicab, the city of Hastings has been made the defendant in two suits for $160,000.

Suing as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Koehn, who died a few days after the accident, Mr. Koehn claims $75,000. This claim is computed upon the basis of Mrs. Koehn's possible earnings as a trained nurse had she lived. The other claim is for $85,000, which he asks because he was deprived of the society of his wife and her services in the household.

Mr. and Mrs. Koehn came here to attend the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the former's parents and the accident occurred while Mrs. Koehn was on her way to the station to bid farewell to the visiting guests.

Claims similar to those made in the suits were filed with the city council last year but were never acted upon. The father, the Rev. Henry Brian, filed claim with the city council for $5,000 alleging that Mrs. Koehn had contributed to his support. This claim is not included in the two suits.

CAR SKIDS; THREE INJURED AT YORK

Man and Wife From Kansas May Die—Were on Vacation.

YORK, Neb., Aug. 4.—Three were injured, two probably fatally, at 5 o'clock Thursday, four miles south of this city when the auto in which they were riding skidded off the edge of the road and turned turtle.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Basart of Vermosa, Kas., are said by physicians attending them at the Lutheran hospital here, to be in critical condition from internal injuries. Their son, Ralph, escaped with a broken wrist and bruised leg.

Basart, who was driving, was pinned under the car.

Loose dirt along the edge of the highway is said to have caused the accident. Witnesses assert, however, that Basart was driving at high speed. The family was en route to Canada for a month's vacation.

Kanred Wheat Has Turkey Red Beaten In Adams County

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Aug. 4.—Kanred wheat has uniformly shown a greater yield per acre in Adams county this year than turkey red, though there has been no black rust in the crop, for the resistance of which kanred had been especially recommended. Numerous yields of more than thirty bushels per acre have been reported. On Leo Conroy's farm near Prosser kanred produced thirty-two bushels per acre and turkey red twenty-two. Corn in this section is in need of rain, though it is not suffering materially. Excessive hot weather of the first few days of this week has dried the soil and the crop is in a critical condition.

Darts of Cupid Pierce Hearts Of Aged Couple

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., Aug. 4.—"It's never too late to love," is the philosophy of John C. Rutz, 74, of Dawson, Neb., and Mrs. Bertha L. Emigh, 66, of Humboldt, Neb., a widow.

Carrying this philosophy out to the letter, the elderly couple presented themselves before County Judge Failoon and had the knot tied. The new Mrs. Rutz hinted that a long honeymoon will follow as she informed the judge that they would not be "at home" until early in September.

Mr. Rutz is a retired farmer and has lived in Richardson county for a number of years.

Fremont Burglars Make Good Escape

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., Aug. 4.—No trace has been found so far of the yeggs who early Thursday took a safe from the grocery store of L. P. Hanson and later hammered it open with spikes in John Haurigan's watermelon patch near the river.

It is believed the same thieves who were occupants of an automobile, are responsible for two other burglaries in Fremont during Wednesday night. Fifty gallons of gasoline was taken at the Nicholas oil station and a dozen automobile tires at the Farmers Co-operative company's warehouse.

A FREMONT JUDGE DISCHARGES BLAIR

Lincoln Constable Fails to Land Man Wanted Here.

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., Aug. 4.—Efforts of a Lincoln constable to arrest G. D. Blair, Fremont photographer and former teacher in the Fremont high school, proved unsuccessful. Blair, who happened to be with his attorney when the constable arrived, started habeas corpus proceedings. Hearing Thursday before Judge F. W. Button resulted in the release of Blair, the court finding that the venue of action was in Dodge county.

Mrs. Blair, who was married to Blair at Lincoln last February, has started suit in district court at Lincoln alleging that Blair has deserted her and failed to contribute to her support. She says further that she is about to become a mother and she is in a destitute condition. Blair has started suit for divorce here, alleging cruelty.

Blair served during the war in France and was wounded. He gave up teaching in the high school to enlist for service and on his return opened a photograph studio here.

(Special to The Star.)

Investigate Agents Who Sold Remedies For Hogs in Knox

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Aug. 4.—It is reported that agents have been selling a hog remedy in the territory northwest of here which has worked exactly opposite to claims and a large percentage of the hogs given the treatment have died in consequence. On farmer who had been victimized succeeded in calling up the local bank in time to stop payment on his check. It is said that the agents gave the understanding that they were working in connection with the state agricultural department. A representative of the department is in this vicinity now making an investigation.

Hastings Business Houses to Close For County Fair

HASTINGS, Neb., Aug. 4.—Hastings business houses generally are signing an agreement to close from 1 to 5 on the afternoons of the Adams county fair, August 15 to 18.

The fair will be the first one held here in more than twenty years and indications point to a far greater entry list than was expected. The live stock pens are already overcrowded and orders have been given for tents to accommodate the overflow. Several other counties are represented in the entry list.

The management had some misgivings over the early date but are convinced now that the fair will be a marked success.

Rains in Knox Delay Threshing

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Aug. 4.—The frequent rains are greatly delaying shock threshing in this section. Reports from farms where the threshing has been completed vary considerably. In some instances a good yield is reported, while in other cases the crop is mighty short. Corn is making great progress. The ground is now full of moisture and, barring hot winds, a wonderful crop should result even though no more rain falls for several weeks. Pastures are now in fine shape and the alfalfa fields look great.

TRAGEDY ON FARM.

DAVID CITY, Neb., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Anna Suchy, wife of Frank Suchy living on a farm southeast of David City, committed suicide by hanging, Wednesday afternoon. She was thirty-six years of age and leaves her husband and two sons, one aged 13, the other aged 9.

OMAHA, Aug. 4.—Charles H. Donnell, arrested at Bedford, Ia., and brought to Council Bluffs to face charges of bigamy, has admitted to Frank E. Northrop, assistant county attorney, that he has married three times in the last eight years and has been principal in but one divorce. All three of his wives are living.

In a statement to Northrop, Donnell says that he married Mrs. Christine Pihl at Blair, Neb., about eight years ago. Five years ago, although he had not been divorced from his first wife, he married Mrs. Mildred Branson of Columbus, Neb. She obtained a divorce from him two years ago and he returned to live with his first wife until last spring when he came to the Bluffs.

Last Friday he married Mrs. Ethel F. Reed, at the court house in Council Bluffs, and they were enjoying a honeymoon at Bedford when Donnell was arrested. He is 50 and his latest wife is 40.

When a Girl Marries

by Ann Lisle

KING FEATURE SYNDICATE INC.

CHAPTER 712.

"You think someone tampered with Jim's letter!" I cried, staring at Mr. Lacy in amazement and trying to adjust myself to the unwelcome idea he had introduced.

"I know it," he replied quietly. "See, you opened the envelope by slitting it at the top. Now bend back the flap from your own clean cut and you can see where it was steamed open and glued shut again with a different sort of paste from the mucilage still adhering to the top of the flap. That tells the story, doesn't it?"

"It does," I gasped, dazed at this unpleasant revelation. "You don't think that Rosa"——

"I don't think anything yet. But I feel you've given me a lot of food for thought. May I have a day or two on this?" asked Mr. Lacy shyly.

"Do you mean to say you're going on with this after tonight?" I cried. "I thought you'd been generous enough to give me the whole evening and to let me talk about my interests all the while. And now you seem to be getting ready to go on studying my problems."

"They are mine now," said Ralph Lacy gravely. "You've turned to me, and I'm either going to prove of some account to you or prove my self my own idol of a complete fizzle. Now that we've cleared away the glittering generalities of my job, isn't there some real problem I can get up and bust wide open?"

He laughed incongruously, but sobered to sternness as I replied:

"There's only the decision about arresting Dick West."

"I don't see much net gain in locking West up," said Ralph Lacy. "You don't desire revenge. And the extent to which he's organized may be such that locking him up won't touch on the real situation. All you'd be sure of when you arrested him would be that you'd not know whom to watch next. No, I think the thing to do is to put detectives on the young man's trail."

"You're right," I agreed. "I'll attend to that at once."

"Please!" cried Ralph Lacy, leaning forward and speaking with an eagerness that was almost stammering in its rush and strength, "this is my job. You mustn't put yourself in the position where the detective is likely to be detected. I don't want you to be followed in turn. If I get the men and give them instructions the chances are good that West and his confreres won't suspect a thing. Let me do it, and don't you even know when and where and how I proceed. Then you won't have any embarrassing encounters. I don't want all the tawdriness of this to—get you."

"It wouldn't," I said, gently. "It's for Jim."

Mr. Lacy sat thinking for a moment. Then he said:

"You can serve your husband best by not appearing in this matter. You probably couldn't serve your husband better than by letting me help. That isn't as swanky as it sounds. But I'm such a new friend—you have so many close old ties that I'll hardly be thought of except as a newspaper man with whom you have business dealings which bring you into his company now and then in the course of your regular job."

"That's true!" I agreed, enthusiastically. "It's sort of drawing a red herring across the trail, isn't it?"

"Or a false scent with an anise bag—I being said anise bag," Mr. Lacy smiled and yet gave the effect of grimness. "Now we've decided. You're in the dark about what your newspaper friend is up to. You hardly remember that you've commissioned him to do a thing out of the ordinary. And he hopes that he's going to come along with some worthwhile results, and soon, too. I'm hoping"——

His voice trailed off, and suddenly Mr. Lacy was lost in a brown study. He jerked himself back again and got to his feet with a renewal of the grimness I hardly understood, so alien did it seem to him.

"I'll do my best, Mrs. Harrison," he said in a voice that was low, but which had the peculiar effect of having about a thousand horsepower back of its clear ring. "I'm never going to be able to tell you how—proud I am of your friendship, your faith and—your confidences. I needn't tell you that they're sacred. I needn't add that I'm going to give them my best. And now—good night."

Abruptly he seized my hand, wrung it as if we were fraternity brothers, dropped it as if we were foes and then stood aside with an air which forced me to lead the way to the door.

As we came into the front hall the bell pealed. It was after ten, so I answered at once, thinking that the single ring might not disturb Bertha and hoping to avoid any commotion which would deprive her of her slumber. Mr. Lacy stood back while I swung the door open. On the threshold was Betty Winston—a haggard, tired-looking Betty, with her face chalk-white and lined and drawn under her heavy hat of black crepe.

I didn't say a word; I held out my hands, drew Betty close and folded her in my arms. She clung to me. Over and over again I heard her whispering, in a choked voice:

"Anne! Little Anne—I've come home to you."

Her voice seemed so tired and frightened that it could hardly be Betty's strong, perfectly modulated tones. It made my heart ache. I tightened my arms about her and laid my cheek against hers. At last I ventured, in the most matter-of-fact tone:

"Come up to my room and take off your hat, dear. We'll get a bite of supper later. But in the meantime you'll want to freshen up a bit."

Like a child too tired to protest, Betty let me lead her toward the stairs. As we started up, I turned and said with a calmness that cost me a great struggle.

"Anthony Norreys, my dear and wonderful friend, I want you to know what a fine, new friend I have in my advertising consultant, Ralph Lacy. You'll wait and start getting acquainted while I'm gone, won't you?"

This queer and informal introduction was artificial. Strangest of all was the fact that Betty the gracious and ever-courteous, had taken it for granted that my absorption in her would wipe out everything else. But as if she were in a daze, she let me lead her up to my room. When I saw how ghastly she was, I said—quite without planning to:

"How would you like to climb into my nice white little bed, which just got its full quota of clean linen this morning?"

"I'm so tired," murmured Betty. "If I didn't have to talk—or explain, I think I could sleep. I'm so tired, Anne. I want to sleep."

Then almost as if we were both in a dream, I helped her get ready for the night, dragging things out of my own chiffarobe and dressing her in them. In a whirl of activity I opened my bed, tucked her in, turned down the light and then drew up a chair and sat next to the bed. After a moment Betty put out her hand and found mine. She curled her fingers about it, sighed like a tired child and in two or three minutes her even breathing told me she was asleep. I waited to make sure. After a time I slipped my hand out of hers and tiptoed to the door. At the top of the stairs I stopped gasping for breath, fairly awed by the strangeness of it all.

While Carlotta Sturges is a thousand miles away trying to find the strength to come back and face Betty and Tony I have taken Betty Winston into Carlotta's home. What will come of it all?

Trains Restored Following Floods In North Nebraska

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 4—Complete service on the Omaha railroad between Sioux City and Norfolk, Neb., has been restored after a severe tie-up for several days due to washouts following the heavy rains. Twelve trains were taken off Saturday on account of the bad condition of the tracks. There was no train service for two days between Emerson and Norfolk or on the Bloomfield and Crofton lines.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Adv.

KIDDIES ENJOY MAN OF MAGIC

Robert Wassman Performs Feats at Epworth Assembly Thursday Night.

Religious Readings Are Delivered by Sarah Mildred Willmer.

Robert Wassman, the man of magic, accomplished the impossible, in an hour's performance Thursday night before 4,000 people at the Epworth assembly, and held a mass of children who had gathered around him, spellbound in an evening of mystery.

Just before the magician came upon the platform, children from all parts of the big auditorium swarmed down and gathered around the huge platform where the mystery man was to perform. All boydom of Epworth surrounded the magician and only one among the lot claimed to be able to fathom one of the tricks. This concerned the contents of a queer looking little box. He walked up to explain the trick but the box opened on all sides, there was nothing in it and the boy walked sheepishly back to his place.

The evening had not been advertised or intended especially for the children, but the crowd of children equaled any that has attended the assembly in past years. The magician performed many tricks that only took five or ten years practice to learn, he said. Among them were interesting card tricks, the Chinese shuffle and many other kinds of shuffles. He produced baby's clothing from a man's derby, picked half dollar pieces from men's hair, produced green reptiles from newspaper, with the aid of an iron rod poked a forty dollar watch in a tin horn, and fought a realistic duel on the stage with a small boy with real guns. At this stage of the game a youngster became so interested that he worked his way through the crowd around the platform, forgot his bearings and became lost. C. A. Fulmer picked up the youngster and announced to the audience that he had found a lost boy and he was soon claimed by the parents.

Thursday afternoon's program consisted of readings by Sarah Mildred Willmer, reader of religious literary masterpieces. She presented "The Sign of the Cross," a drama representing the time of Nero. The readings showed the sufferings and trials that the early Christians were forced to endure because of their belief in a Savior.

REED'S VICTORY.

Apparently Senator Jim Reed of Missouri is renominated by a small margin. The vote was close but as this is written the Missouri wild-cat enjoys a slight lead. Interest in the Missouri primary centered about the democratic election in much the same manner as in other states where progressive republicans challenged old guard senators seeking re-election. The democrats of Missouri well recognize that the contest between Jim Reed and Breckenridge Long was not one within the democratic party or that Jim Reed was not elected because he represents the democratic thought of Missouri.

Mr. Reed was elected because he was the least desirable of the two candidates. The primary law of Missouri is such that anybody may be a democrat for the time being, voting in the democratic primary, and then later vote the republican ballot in the fall election. Thus it was that many persons who will vote the republican ticket in November cast their ballot for Reed in the primaries simply because they knew he would be an easier man to defeat than Long.

Senator Reed calls himself a dyed-in-the-wool democrat, and there is no law preventing him from doing so, but his friends are as numerous in one party as another. To lend moral support to Missouri republicans who wanted to vote for Reed in the primaries, Senators McCormick and Smoot gave Reed their endorsement and the German-American league passed a resolution endorsing him.

The democratic organization in Missouri was wholly with Long. He represented the things which the democratic party has stood for in the last decade. Reed was opposed to everything democratic and for everything republican in the administration of our government, especially in foreign affairs. In the November election the people of Missouri will be without a democratic candidate; there will simply be two republican candidates, one appearing on a democratic ballot.

ANNEXING MORAL SUPPORT.

Just now it seems to be the fad in some industries to hire a professional moral guide and regulator of moral difficulties. When baseball in the big leagues suffered from the White Sox scandals, the erstwhile Judge Landis was paid a princely salary to act as baseball arbiter of big league disputes. His connection with organized baseball was, primarily, to lend dignity and incorruptibility to the game.

Then came the movie magnates. They felt the need of a nationally known figure of good standing in the Presbyterian church to furnish the movie industry with respectability, and so Will Hays was annexed from the president's cabinet, also at a princely salary. The New York theatres have more recently employed a "dictator" of high standing to supply them with moral courage when needed, and now comes the New York restaurants with a similar desire for a benevolent dictator. They want "some big man to be a point of contact between the harassed restaurant owners and the thousand and one agencies that harass him." Commenting upon this interesting procedure, the New York World has this to say in regard to the restaurant plan: "It is apparently not so much a dictator to improve conditions so as to escape legislative regulation that they desire as one to combat too zealous supervision by 'Uncle Sam, New York state and the police department, who watch the restaurants to see whether they violate any particular regulation.' One remedy for that kind of attention might seem to lie in a strict observance of the requirements of the law by individual restaurants, whether the restriction in question concerns the illegal sale of liquor, the quality of the food served or the conditions of cleanliness on the premises.

"But at any rate, if the restaurants in choosing a dictator will empower him, in addition to resisting regulatory aggression, to better the service, regulate prices in the interest of fairness and develop the potentialities of improvement in restaurants, the public will give him its hearty co-operation."

EFFECTS OF SUMMER HEAT.

President Ban Johnson, of the American baseball league, announces that the clubs have appropriated $100,000 for the erection of a monument in East Potomac Park, Washington, D. C., to honor baseball.

The effects of the midsummer heat are something fierce. If the monument was to perpetuate the diamond efforts of Ban Johnson or to remind posterity of Ty Cobb's long and successful career as a ballplayer, there might be some excuse for a monument—but a monument to honor baseball! "What sort of dementia this is can be left to experts," opines one critic, but the important thing is to note that it is a dementia of a wierd sort.

Time was when emperors and kings, following successful wars, built huge triumphal arches, but that was to commemorate their victories. In Washington today stands a lofty shaft of stone known as Washington's monument. It serves to keep alive in the breasts of succeeding generations the noble spirit of independence for which George Washington and his followers fought. It is easy to understand a desire for personal or national glorification.

But why should $100,0000 be wasted to glorify a commercial sport. It is true that organized baseball has been making fortunes for the owners of the various league franchises, but is it Ban Johnson's purpose to erect a monument in honor of their profit-making business? John D. Rockefeller might well erect a tower in honor of oil. It would be as sensible.

If the baseball magnates have so much money that they do not know what to do with it, they might make the general admission to ball games a little less or at least reduce the admission charge to the world series. A few more stunts of similar idiocy and baseball will need a monument for its memory instead of its glorification.

An owner of a vacant lot is in most cases holding it for speculation. He expects to make money out of it when he sells. Is that not all the more reason why he should keep it looking neat instead of covered with weeds and trash? The owner of a vacant lot owes it to the community to take care of it.

One of the most tragic sights in life is a man who has forgotten how to laugh. He may smile occasionally, usually at his own wit, but he never bursts into hearty laughter. Of the few things which the world could not well get along without, is the music of laughter, and the man who cannot laugh healthily will never be greatly missed by his friends when he passes into dust.

To steal a thought from the Louisville Courier-Journal, the four million dollar estate left by the inventor of the safety pin was mere "pin money made from an infant industry."

By the way, what ever happened to all those goggles, dusters and other paraphernalia that "automobilists" used to wear?

If a wife knows how her husband spends his money, she need not worry about how he spends his time.

The first hundred strikes, Mr. Harding, are always the hardest to settle.

Comment by the Press

GERMANY AND THE LEAGUE.

Lord Robert Cecil, in urging the league of nations to admit Germany, is inspired by the fear that Europe is settling back into the condition that existed prior to 1914; that is, into two great combinations of powers organized against each other. Forcefully he argues that unless Germany is accepted as a logical fellow of Great Britain, France and Italy it will seek its national companionship elsewhere.

Just now Germany would be glad to receive an invitation to join the league. Many overtures have been made in that direction, but the league has not seen fit to recognize them. Meantime, Berlin has witnessed the admission of its former allies, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, into the league. Thus, since there has been no rule against admitting former enemies of the Entente, it is plain there has been a deliberate purpose against the non-admission of Germany.

This purpose can hardly arise from anything except post-war rancor, an influence to which the league is subjected only because its component members possess that rancor. The spirit of the league itself is opposed to prejudices. It is designed to be all-embracing and to be judicious and unpreferential in its attitude toward individual nations.

Lord Robert Cecil's mission, therefore, is to induce league members to shed their prejudices against German admission in behalf of Europe's larger good. The most prominent of these is France. Yet for France to take an uncompromising stand against German admission, as Lord Robert points out, is a short-sighted and fruitless way of dealing with the case.

It takes no prophet to discern that the future ramifications of the Rapallo Alliance might prove extremely menacing to western Europe. France, especially, must bear the brunt of a powerful Germany and potentially an even more powerful Russia united for purposes of common aggrandizement. If this combination, say, in fifty years should develop all its opportunities the mastery of Europe might well pass into its hands over the enfeebled and futile protest of France.

Lord Robert Cecil says Germany for some time can be held down and dominated. But in the end its superior man power, allied with Russian hordes, must prevent such domination. In spite of all scientific progress in warfare, human virility still holds the balance of power.

The only possible way for France to enter a long and successful competition with Germany is greatly to augment its native population. Assuming that that competition is out of the question, the course of wisdom is to allow Germany to take its natural place among the nations of western Europe. Admission into the league would be a long lap to that goal.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE ADVANTAGE OF BEING YOUNG.

It is amazing to the ordinary father to hear his knickerbockered boy speak familiarly of "statics" and "electron streams" and "inductance" and "360 meter waves." And when he comes to quizz his son, he finds that the boy not only can talk about these strange things but use them.

The surprise is the same as when an American goes to France and hears the little children talking French and common laborers using the metric system. The American got his knowledge of the French language and of the metric system—what he has of it—by hard work and much worry in school. Whenever he wants to say anything in French he thinks it out first in English and then picks out the corresponding French words, guesses at their gender, arranges them in the foreign order, and sets his speech organs so as to approximate their pronounciation. Whenever he wants to put anything into kilograms he has to think of it in tons and then multiply by 907.18.

But as the French children come naturally into a heritage of French idioms and metric measures so our children take naturally to the new ideas of science, if they have a chance at them directly without being put through the cruder conceptions of former days of ignorance. The idea of an electron stream is much easier to grasp than the old two-fluid theory of electricity that our elders were brought up on. Each generation is born free and has a right to get its science in the latest and simplest forms, unencumbered by the errors of the past. —Washington Herald.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

ARE YOU FIRM WITH CHILDREN BEFORE COMPANY?

Do not be backward about correcting your children when guests are present.

Many parents wonder why the kiddies are so uncontrolable when friends are around.

They think that making their children obey by forcible methods in the presence of guests is a certain way to make the guests get a poor opinion of their offspring.

You have such ideas yourself and are too lenient, so the children, with intent, take advantage of your disinclination to punish with company around, and they get what they want, whether you want it or not.

And that is here you are very foolish.

When Sonny or Sister asks for money for amusement and something good to eat, ordinarily forbidden, just because you have guests, or are preoccupied in entertaining, say no and stick to it to the point of chastisement if teasing is attempted.

You won't have to do it more than once or twice when the child will realize you are firm and cease to take advantage.

To fall for such tricks from the children is unwise on your part and brings a harvest of trouble.

WHY NOT?

Can't you spare a little time for being kind?
Can't you lend a hand to smooth the stony ways?
Help to banish doubt from someone's troubled mind?
Be a prophet, and predict delightful days?
Even he who's chopping wood
Likes to know his work is good,
And is thankful for a word or two of praise.

Can't you spare a little time for looking out?
Are you thinking of your own affairs alone?
Are you helping to spread happiness about?
Do you hail your neighbor in a friendly tone?
Don't forget or fail to greet
Little children whom you meet;
When it's handy, toss a hungry dog a bone.

Can't you spare a little time for giving cheer?
Pass the weary clerk a compliment or two?
Be quick to spread the good news that you hear?
Assist in letting merit have its due?
Why be skeptical or sad?
Pause to make some other glad
Where the reasons for encouragement are few.

Can't you spare a little time for helping those
Who are busy pulling out the hateful weeds?
Where a thistle has been growing plant a rose,
Make the world a little brighter by your deeds;
Let the doubtful man be stirred
By your hopeful, cheering word,
It may wake the helpful impulse that he needs.

BARNUM AND HIS ANIMALS

(Gamaliel Bradford in Atlantic Monthly)

It is curious to note that, although P. T. Barnum's business kept him in close contact with all sorts of animals, his autobiography does not show the faintest tract of scientific curiosity. Neither does it indicate any affection for a single one of the numerous creatures who must have come more or less directly under his observation.

Matters of art did not take any more real hold on him than matters of intellect. It is true, he is careful to inform us that his own taste was much above the museum. "I myself relished a higher grade of amusement, and I was a frequent attendant at the opera, first class concerts, lectures, and, the like."

His admiration for the beauties of nature shows itself in a delicious tirade against those who mar such beauties by advertising. "It is outrageous selfishness to destroy the pleasure of thousands for the sake of a chance of additional gain." But I do not find evidence that either the painting of Botticelli or a quiet walk in the fields afforded him any particular ecstacy.

She Refused Him

"I was engaged to the prettiest little doll in Indiana, but my stomach and liver trouble had made me so grouchy that she broke it off. I tried all kinds of medicine and doctors and got no relief. The gas blew me up like a porcupine and I had awful colic attacks. Finally I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has certainly fixed me up fine. I am now as good as ever." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Nearly Half a Million Votes Have Been Counted and Tabulated in the Nation-wide 10,000,000 Poll

"It should be possible to form an accurate estimate of public opinion" predicted the New York Tribune, commenting on the tabulation of the first 200,000 votes in the "Digest's" national referendum on Prohibition and the Bonus, when the third or fourth hundred thousand are tabulated.

In this week's issue the tabulation of more than 480,000 votes is presented, and numerous publicists are ready with estimates of the state of public opinion which the ballots show. The Pittsburgh Sun, with an eye to certain humorous aspects of the situation says:

"It has been amusing, when not distressing, to read the wild statements of the 'wets' and the more rabid 'dries.' Each camp has assured the patient public a thousand times that it holds 90 per cent of all American citizens. Of course, the 90 per cent. can not be in both camps at the same time, though a considerable proportion of us may carry water on one shoulder and something else on another. It will be as refreshing as the outlawed mint julep is said to have been to have adequate and accurate information as to just what we do think, these hot summer months. . . . Whatever the outcome of the vote, it is likely to put an end to the foolish claims of the extremists on both sides by affording authentic information upon which to base discussion. And that is what we, the people, chiefly need—authentic information."

As to the Federal Bonus for Soldiers and Sailors a small number of strongly pro-bonus advocates join the several "dry" leaders who have announced that the present poll is not representative. The Indianapolis Star takes a more commonly held position and says: "THE LITERARY DIGEST is not championing or opposing either Prohibition or the Bonus, but is interested only in disclosing sentiment on those subjects. If the force of public opinion is not back of either proposition, no harm can come from knowing that fact. If it is back of either or both, much good may be expected from such a disclosure."

The results of this tremendous poll of the nation will be published in the "Digest" from week to week throughout the summer, and when completed the people of the United States should know, as never before, the actual public sentiment upon these two burning issues. Other striking news-features in the "Digest" this week are:

POSTMISTRESS IS SAID TO BE SHORT

Government Files Complaint Against Mrs. Maud Ballard of Bartlett.

OMAHA, Aug. 4.—Charging her with the embezzlement of $798.40 alleged to have been diverted to her own uses from government funds, a complaint has been filed by Assistant United States Attorney George Keyser against Mrs Maud L. Ballard, postmistress at Bartlett, Wheeler county, Neb. A warrant has been issued and is now in the hands of a deputy marshal.

According to Keyser, who drew the complaint on a report by a postoffice inspector, Mrs Ballard, her husband and two children live over a store at Bartlett in which the postoffice is located. The shortage in the postoffice funds was discovered by the inspector in July, and Mr. Keyser believes that Mrs. Ballard has been succeeded since as postmaster.

Brookhart Says G. O. P. Platform For Iowa Is Okay

ROCKWELL CITY, Ia., Aug. 4.—Smith W. Brookhart, republican candidate for the United States senate from Iowa, interpreted the republican platform adopted at the state convention held in Des Moines in a speech delivered last night before a Calhoun county fair crowd and declared he would stand on the platform as he understood it.

Colonel Brookhart, who was the center of attack at both the republican and democratic state conventions in Des Moines yesterday, declared that the republican party had adopted his plank on the federal reserve system, that he was especially pleased with the plank calling for conscription of wealth in war, that the bonus plank did not oppose his plan of taxing profiteers to pay for adjusted compensation, and that even the primary plank, rightly interpreted, was a constructive measure.

In the opinion of political observers who heard his speech, Col. Brookhart's interpretations of the republican platform may cause its authors some chagrin.

WATCHMAN SHOOTS YARD SWITCHMAN

(Associated Press.)

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 4.—Mob rule was narrowly averted in Edgemont, S. D., last night when Watchman John Jones shot and fatally wounded Switchman Harry Landmaster. The fatal shot was fired by Jones upon practically no provocation, it was reported.

Landmaster was talking to a switchman when Jones flashed a flashlight on the couple, it was said. Landmaster objected to intrusion and asked Jones to desist. Jones refused, it was declared. Landmaster started to rise from a sitting posture. As he did so Jones fired the fatal shot, it is alleged. Criminal proceedings will follow.

FEAR CONFERENCE WILL HIT A SNAG

Anniversary of War's Opening Finds Victors Treading Rocky Road.

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The eighth anniversary today of England's entrance into the world war found the victors treading a rocky road beneath a gathering cloud of pessimistic belief that the Lloyd-George-Poincare conference next week will fail. The Anglo-French premiers, accompanied by representatives of Belgium and Italy, will plunge into the double problem of German indemnity and inter-allied debts Monday.

Although it had been reported that the French were prepared to cut down German indemnity to 50,000,000,000 gold marks ($12,000,000) if Great Britain and the United States would cancel the debts owing to them by France it is believed unlikely that M. Poincare will be prepared to go that far.

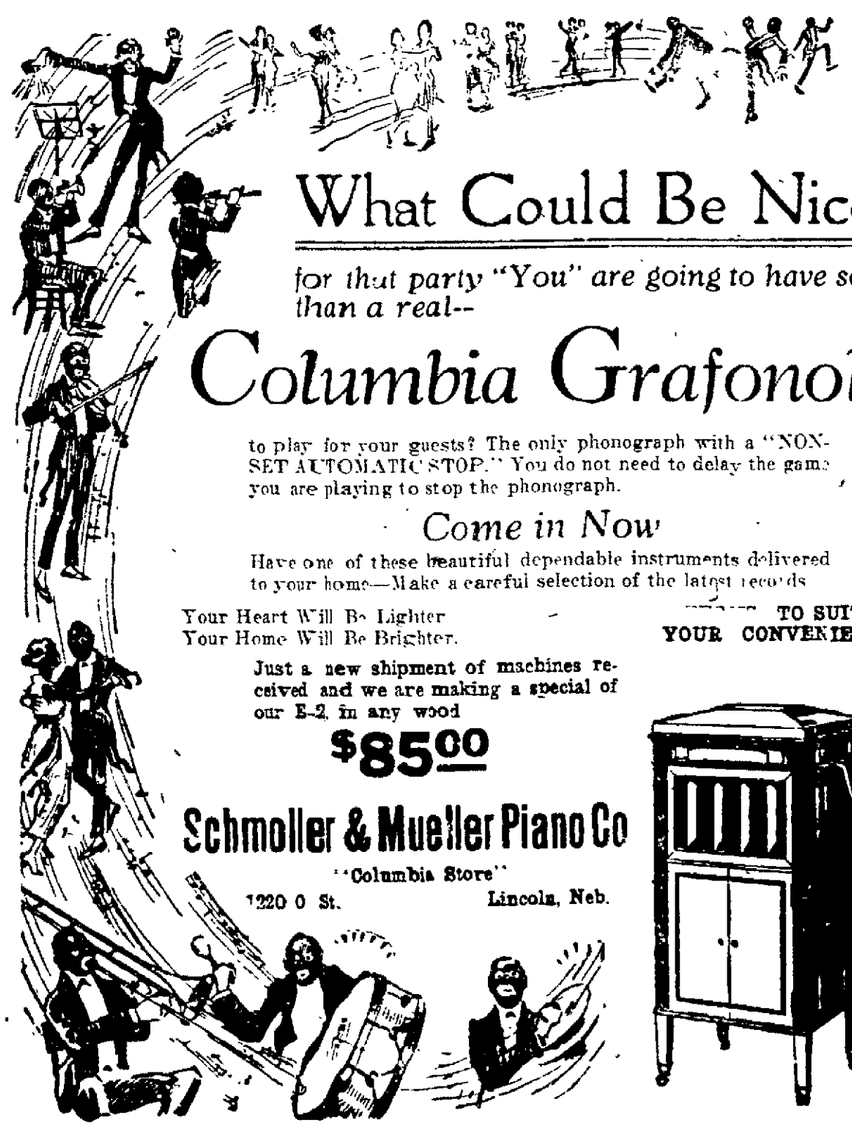

A clear idea of the attitude England will take was given by Premier Lloyd-George in the house of commons when he said that, while Britain is willing for a general annulment of war debts the British taxpayers could not stand the burden that would be imposed by partial cancellation.

The Lloyd-George speech was received with enthusiasm by the press. The premiers failure to mention the United States was interpreted as an indication that the Balfour note was not intended as pressure to force the United States to cancel debts owing to her by the European governments.

FIRST PRIZE TO MRS. J. GAMMEL FOR APPLE BUTTER

Mrs. Wesley Gibson of Lincoln Second in Competition.

Eleven Recipes Listed For Old Fashioned Delicacy.

Recipes for good old-fashioned apple butter were submitted in the Star recipe competition this week. First prize was awarded to Mrs. J. Gammel of Bethany and second prize to Mrs. Wesley Gibson of Lincoln. Nine other recipes were selected for the honorable mention.

The decision of the judge, Mrs. Irene W. Haykin, home economics instructor in the Lincoln public schools, is as follows:

First prize, $2—Mrs. P. Gammel, Bethany, Neb.

Second prize, $1—Mrs. Wesley Gibson, Lincoln.

Honorable Mention

Dorothy Schoneman, Ceresco, Neb.
Mrs. George Pontine, Saronville, Neb.
Mrs. Will Umphres, Sterling, Neb.
Mrs. Tom McGraw, Geneva, Neb.
Mrs. C. M. Whitsel, Exeter, Neb.
M. M. Page, Lincoln, Neb.
Mrs. J. P. Hilyard, Superior, Neb
Mrs. Alice Kirtley, Cheney, Neb.
Alta Hornady, Bethany, Neb.

The Winning Recipes

The winning recipes are as follows:

Apple butter (Mrs. J. Gammel)—Wash and cut up apples, cook until well done, use a wooden masher and mash all through colander to take out seeds and peelings. To 11 cups of fruit use 7 cups of sugar. Spice to taste. I prefer to make my butter quite dark. I use 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 teaspoons allspice, 1 teaspoon cloves. Stir all well and let boil until quite thick Remember that when it is cool it is thicker than when hot. I put mine in jars or glasses and when cool pour hot parawax over the top.

Apple butter (Mrs. Wesley Gibson)—Allow ½ bushel of apples to 1 gallon of cider; this rule must vary a little, of course, as to the kind of apples used and the sourness of the cider. Boil the cider down 1-4, pare and quarter the apples, removing cores, and boil until thick, stirring very frequently with a large wooden spoon or ladle Tie in a cloth 1 tablespoonful each of allspice, stick cinnamon and mace, all whole, with a dozen cloves, and boil with the apples and cider. The quantity of spice is for 1 gallon of cider. The apples should be weighed, and when the butter is nearly done add 1-4 their weight in sugar. This is an excellent well tested recipe.

Honorable Mention

Apple butter (Dorothy Schoneman)—Wash apples, cut into pieces, put on enough water to cover them and cook until done. Rub through the colander. Put pulp into kettle, adding 3-4 as much sugar as there is pulp. Add cinnamon, cloves or allspice and cook for three hours.

Apple butter (Mrs. Geo Pontine)—Three gallons cooked apples; ½ pint cider vinegar; 2½ pounds brown sugar; 3 pounds beet sugar; 2 lemons sliced up and cooked with the butter. Winesaps, Ganos and Ben Davis make the best apple butter. Cook this down to 2 gallons, add cinnamon to taste and the butter will keep for years.

Apple butter (Mrs. Will Umphres—To make apple butter pare, core and cut tart apples into small pieces. Pour over a small amount of water, not enough to cover, and cook until about half done. To each three cups of stewed apples add 2½ cups sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon. If you have it, add a half cup of boiled cider or grape juice to this. Bake in a granite or earthen baking dish until thick and red. If cooked on top of the stove, stir often to prevent burning. The oven method is best. Place in jars, cover with hot paraffin and seal.

Apple butter (Mrs. Tom McGraw)—To make apple butter pare, core and cut tart apples into small pieces. Pour over a small amount of water, not enough to cover and cook until about half done. To each three cups of stewed apples add 1 cup of dark corn syrup, 1 teaspoon of ground cinnamon and a dash of ground cloves. If you have it, add a half cup of boiled cider or grape juice to this. Bake in a granite or earthern dish until thick and red. If cooked on top of stove, stir often to prevent burning.

Grandmother's Recipe

"Grandmother's" apple butter (Mrs. C. M. Whitsel)—Pare 1 bushel Gano, Jonathan or Mellow apples. Cook and run them through a colander. Add 1 gallon boiled cider, 10 pounds granulated sugar and cook until thick (about three hours) stirring constantly. Just before taking off the stove add 2 tablespoons of cinnamon. This will keep in stone jars and makes about 4 gallons.

Apple butter (M. M. Page)—This butter may be made from sweet or sour apples. Boil 1 gallon of cider down to ½ its original bulk. Peel and core apples and cut in small pieces. Put into boiling cider as many apples as can cook without burning. When soft skim out, add more apples and so on until all are cooked. Then mash apples as soft as possible and put back into cider. Simmer slowly until as thick as marmalade. Stir often so butter will not stick to bottom of pan. Turn into small stone crocks and keep in cool, dry place. If you wish a spicy flavor, allow 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg and allspice to each gallon, putting it in when nearly done.

Apple Jane, or butter, also known as Foreign fruit (Mrs. J. P. Hilyard)—Weigh equal quantities of brown sugar and good sour apples. Pare, core and chop the apples fine. Make a good, clear syrup of the sugar, add the apples, the juice and grated yellow rind of 3 lemons and a few pieces of white ginger. Boil until the apples look clear and yellow. This put in tumblers as jelly resembles foreign sweetmeats. Do not on any account omit the ginger. This will keep for years.

Apple butter (Mrs. Alice Kirtley)—Boil new cider fresh from the press down to half its original quantity. To every gallon of the boiled cider add 1 gallon of cooked apples. Stir frequently and when the apples are soft beat with a wooden stick until they are reduced to a pulp. Cook and stir continuously until the consistency is that of soft marmalade and the color is a very dark brown. If the butter is too thick, add more boiled cider. Add sugar and spices to taste. Ground cinnamon and nutmeg may be added about twenty minutes before taking from fire. Put the butter in stone jars and cover closely.

Apple butter (Alta Hornady)—Take enough red or slightly red mellow apples to make a gallon after cooked. Wash, quarter and core. Cook and when cool run through a colander. Add 4 cups brown sugar, 1 heaping tablespoon cinnamon, 1 heaping tablespoon cloves, 1 heaping tablespoon nutmeg, 1-3 teaspoon ginger. Cook on steady fire 1 hour and 30 minutes. When done place in stone jars. Seal with paraffine wax.

Minister Takes Poison by Mistake

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 4.—The mistaking of barium sulphide for barium sulphate, investigators for Coroner W. H. Corson said today, caused the death Wednesday of the Rev. Cameron S. Morrison, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of the Epiphany, this city. M. P. Dix, pharmacist, from whom Mr. Morrison purchased a package of drugs, declares the mistake was not his.

Dr. C. P. Bryant Monday instructed Mr. Morrison to buy and take barium sulphate in preparation for an X-ray examination. Tuesday Mr. Morrison went into Dix's drug store. After the purchase he expressed his satisfaction that he had obtained what he wanted in the first place he entered. He swallowed the drug that evening, and began to suffer pains and dizziness. He was under Dr. Bryant's care until death.

"Mr. Morrison asked for barium sulphide, and that is what he got," said Dix. "I had no barium sulphate in the store and would have told him so at once."

Look for No More Bandit Outrages

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.—The killing of the notorious Spanish bandit Gorozabe and the surrender of the rebel leader Aurelanio Lara have resulted in the complete pacification of the state of Vera Cruz and no further interference with oil production or travel is expected, it was announced today by S. Elias Calles, chief of the cabinet.

BATTLING WITH BACKS TO WALL

Irish Rebels Reported to Be In Bad Way In Southwest.

DUBLIN, Aug. 4.—Four republican irregulars were killed and ten were wounded in an attack against a Free State outpost near Limerick today. The advance of the Free State troops continues, but the rebels are fighting desperately with their backs to the wall.

Free State forces have captured Carrick-on-Suir, where Eamonn De Valera had honed to make a stand; also Callan, Mullinahoe, Kilmogany and Wind Gap. Three hundred irregulars fled from Carrick-on-Suir after setting the place on fire and blowing up bridges.

It is reported that De Valera has been deposed as commander in chief of the irregular army and that his place has been taken by Erskine Childers.

Irregulars have been driven from Butlerstown and from the region of Waterford Castle.

The landing of Free State troops at Kerry will likely hasten the retreat of the rebels towards Cork as they will be under pressure from two sides.

De Valera withdrew his forces in the direction of Clogheen leaving orders for Cashel to be held at all costs. The Free State garrison at Swinford was forced to surrender after their stronghold had been set on fire after a long battle.

Irregulars attempted to recapture Bruree but were driven off.

Free State officials were reported today to be arming civilians.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeebe the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate. —Advertisement.

What To Eat — Where To Get It — How To Cook It

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Responsibility is Needed

Dear Minerva: I am a young man twenty-five years old and engaged to a mighty fine girl. Now I have a fairly good position but am ambitions to get ahead and amount to something more than to be just an office man all my life. I have a horror of being one of the hosts of men who grow old in mediocre jobs, saving little, getting little out of life, just withering away at their desks.

Consequently I think I should forge ahead while I am young. It seems good judgment to me for us to wait two or three years before we marry so I will not be handicapped with a family. For when I marry I want to be able to do things right by my wife, and to have a family. My fiancee is inclined to prefer marriage right away. She finished school last spring and says she has no interest in starting to teach since she expects to marry, and she cannot understand my attitude and is sometimes inclined to feel hurt over it. What do you think about it?—F. Y. B.

A. I think it is a mistake to postpone marriage for the reason you give. Responsibility in the way of a family to work and care for is an inspiration to a man, not a weight about his neck. Many a man has become too self centered, too easy going just through avoiding responsibility to ever make a real success in life. If you look into the lives of men who make big successes you will find that the majority of them married reasonably early in life.

Your horror of spending all your days in distasteful work is futile. The very fact that there are so many men who are content to sit back and let others work for the plums of life makes it easier for the man of ambition and energy to succeed. The desk-bound man is generally the man who was bored with his work from the very first, who did just as little as he could do and get away with it. While the man who forged ahead of him was the one who wasn't afraid to work overtime, and who spent all the energy and ingenuity he possessed on the particular job at hand. No intelligent, energetic man will have to stay at an undesirable job all his life if he doesn't want to.

Advice from a Mother

Dear Minerva: In reply to Distressed's letter I am saying that I was in her position once myself. I also had a daughter who was eighteen and beautiful who fell in love with a young man that I thought was the lowest thing in the world. I fought with her and my husband did also. We cried, threatened to give up our home and move and everything else, but after all of that she still insisted that she loved him and him only. So after a year and a half's time we consented to her marriage, but not in our home. He was also a "common laborman." But after all what would we do if it wasn't for the "common laborman." My son-in-law after about three years of married life established a small business of his own which his work at labor helped him to do. They have been married now for ten years and still are like two turtle-doves in a cosy nest. They tell each other that their loving romantic days will never end. If I were you, Mrs. Distracted if they proved their love for each other I wouldn't interfere. I would let the daughter have her choice in the world and wouldn't try to choose for her. You had your choice in life of all other men and probably are happy now. So I would advise you to let your daughter have hers, because if she loves him she will stick by him through thick and thin, and if you try to prevent her you will just lose her love which is valuable.—ONE WHO KNOWS.

About Pickles

Dear Minerva: Am writing to ask if any of your readers have a mixed pickle recipe, cucumbers, onions, beans, etc. Will say to the one who wondered why her pickles shrank I wondered why her pickles shrank I doesn't soak in strong enough salt water. I always turn to your Mail first.—MRS. T. D.

Dear Minerva: In reading your column in Sunday's Star I noticed there is one reader who wants a recipe for sweet pickles. Here is one that I use and it is fine.

Pickles: Wash the cucumbers and soak in strong salt water over night. Next morning prepare your vinegar making it as sweet or sour as wanted, put on stove, add mixed spices, put in your cucumbers, let come to boiling point, and let cook about ten minutes, then take cucumbers out and put in glass jars, cover with boiling vinegar, and seal at once. Keep in dark cool place. If "A Reader" follows this recipe I am sure she will have nice pickles. As I always had.—ANOTHER READER.

Supplementary Advice

Dear Minerva: Please tell Mary Jane that she must have a top coat to wear over her suit on her trip to Washington. The outings there are mostly on the water and a top coat over the suit is an absolute necessity on Puget Sound.—Mrs. E. W.

Many thanks for the tip.

Helping Hand

Dear Minerva: My sister has a lot of silk and other quilt pieces to give away. If anyone should want them her phone number is F-3688.—One WHO ADMIRES YOU.

Dear Minerva: An old lady that is very worthy is in need of an oil stove to cook on and she isn't able to buy one. I thought maybe some of your readers might have one they didn't need they might give this old lady. They can get her address from you.—MRS. R.

BURIAL AT BEATRICE.

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 4.—Funeral services for the late Mrs. George Hazelton were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Centenary M. E. church, conducted by Rev. J. Franklin Haas. Burial was in Evergreen Home cemetery. Mrs. Hazelton, who had been in ill health for several years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Scott Dye at Lincoln. Her husband and three children survive.

WILL BURY BELL AT THE EVENTIDE

Interment Will Be In Granite Tomb Blasted In Summit of Mountain.

(Associated Press.)

SIDNEY, N. S., Aug. 4.—The body of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell will be laid to rest this evening from the home on Beinn Breagh mountain which he had occupied for thirty-five successive summers. At sunset, interment will be made in a granite tomb blasted in the summit of the mountain, a part of the Bell estate.

The body will be borne to its burial place on the highest point in eastern Nova Scotia, by the members of the Bell estate. There it will be laid away on its lofty lookout with simple ceremonies and to the singing of Robert Louis Stevenson's requiem:

"Under the Wide and Starry Sky.
Dig the grave and let me lie:
Glad did I live and gladly die;
And I laid me down with a will."

Messages of condolence received were from leaders in every part of the world.

FRUEAUFF KNOWN AS MAN OF VAST ACCOMPLISHMENT

Late President of Lincoln Gas Company Charted Own Career.

Sold Newspapers In Denver When a Youth, Afterward Reading Meters.

Louis F. Musil, treasurer of Henry L. Doherty & company, in the absence of Mr. Doherty, who is in Massachusetts, has sent to the officers of the Lincoln Gas & Electric Light company, of which Frank W. Frueauff was president, the following statement regarding the death of the latter, together with the appended biographical sketch:

"Frank W. Frueauff, junior member of the firm of Henry L. Doherty & company, and vice president of the Cities Service company, died suddenly at his home in Fifth avenue Monday afternoon.

"Mr. Frueauff left the city Friday on his yacht Alcaldo for Newport, where he spent Saturday and Sunday with his family. On his return to New York Monday morning he told some of his associates that he was suffering from the worst case of indigestion that he had ever had but this fact did not prevent him from attending several conferences at his office at 60 Wall street during the forenoon and the early afternoon.

"After making a dinner engagement with an officer of the company for this evening, Mr. Frueauff left the office at 2:45 o'clock or his home on Fifth avenue, as he said, 'to get a little rest.'

"On entering the door of his residence, he was met in the entrance hall by Mrs. Calfar, the housekeeper, who had been told of his coming on the phone. He informed her that he was going to lie down for a little while and asked that he be called at 6 o'clock. He turned to walk to the staircase and suddenly fell to the floor, where he expired immediately.

'We are all so shocked at Mr. Mr. Frueauff's sudden and untimely death that words fail at this time to express the depth of our bereavement."

A Remarkable Career.

Frank W. Frueauff was born March 29, 1874, in Columbia, Pa., the son of John F. and Annie Day Frueauff. The elder Frueauff moved his family to Denver, Colo., where Frank attended the public schools of the city until he graduated from the high school in 1891. After leaving school, he began his business career as a meter reader for the Denver Gas & Electric company until Henry L. Doherty persuaded him to become a partner in the firm of Henry L. Doherty & company, managers of public utility and oil properties.

Mr. Frueauff, at forty-seven years of age, was called the busiest executive in America, being a director in 141 corporations. In recent years Mr. Frueauff had been the executive head of all of the Doherty interests, directing the affairs of public utility corporations in all parts of the country and serving more than 200 communities with the conveniences and necessities of every day life. To his associates he was known as a human dynamo, always arriving at his office at 9 in the morning and seldom leaving before 5:30 in the afternoon.

Because of his diversified interests in so many companies, it was seldom that he was alone. From twenty-five to fifty men consulted him each business day. Mr. Frueauff's business associates have always characterized him as a just and cool man who under no circumstances would let the most trying situation of business experience turn him from an even, careful consideration of facts. Because of his long business day, it had been said that Mr Frueauff put business aside upon leaving his office. This was not entirely correct as many of his most knotty problems were solved while playing solitaire at home.

Revised Greeley Maxim.

Henry L. Doherty & company, the Cities' Service company and all subsidiary companies employ a system under which each important man has an under-study ready to take up the work of his chief. This is known as the character and personality memorandum. "Anyone who can pass the test of these questions with a high average," Mr. Frueauff used to say, "is a good man worth promoting." The memorandum shows what any executive will tell you, "that interest and initiative are the vital things. Can a man stand criticism? Can he learn from those who want to teach him? Can he go ahead on the job alone and independently work out the problems?"

One of his axioms was a revision of Horace Greeley's advice to young men. It was: "Go west, young man, then come east." In explaining this, Mr. Frueauff used to say that in the west a man gained practical experience on big jobs where big men were doing actual construction work. Similar to Henry L. Doherty, his partner, Frank Frueauff, who was the oldest of five brothers, Charles, Harry, Fred and Will, sold newspapers in Denver. He realized that the sale of newspapers is not a field that would yield particularly well and soon after graduating from high school, he decided to enter the utility business. Because of his excellent work in the management of the Denver Gas & Electric company, partner in the firm of Henry L. Doherty, after applying some of the principles laid down by Mr. Frueauff in 1905, persuaded him to become a partner in the fir mof Henry L. Doherty & company. The application of the Frueauff principles was so successful that the Cities Service company, organized a few years later, increased its business from $1,000,000 a year to $100,000,000, or more in 1920.

Mr. Frueauff is survived by his four brothers, his mother, wife and two daughters, Margaret and Elaine

ANOTHER EFFORT TO SETTLE STRIKE

story told in authoritative quarters today, was this:

B. M. Jewell came to Washington with a program calling for return to work with seniority rights of the strikers fully restored.

President Harding suggested that this be changed to allow those shopmen who had continued at work to keep the seniority rights to which they had succeeded by reason of the walkout.

Jewell demurred but said he would have to talk it over with his conferees. Mean time, De Witt Cuyler, of the executives, called at the white house and the president informed him of the status of the case. Cuyler, according to the story, expressed the opinion that such a program as the president had suggested would be acceptable to a majority of the roads. He then left Washington to spend the week-end in Philadelphia. Jewell in the meantime had conferred with his union associates and decided to stick out for full seniority rights and after another conference with Hr. Harding the matter was finally left that way.

Cuyler went to the executives' meeting under the impression the seniority matter had been agreed upon as allowing the old workers to retain the seniority rights to which they had succeeded. Jewell went to the union meeting under the impression that the strikers were to have their seniority rights fully restored.

The president's message to both camps stated the strikers were to return with their seniority rights unimpaired. Therein lay the misunderstanding, according to the story current today, and with only this point of difference between the two factions, government officials were hopeful that renewed peace proposals would be more successful.

ISSUES CALL FOR G. O. P. MEETING

friend. He also announces that Governor McKelvie will not be present. Members of the republican state executive committee may attend.

McCloud and Howell were opposing candidates for national committeeman in the republican primaries two years ago Howell won but McCloud was later elected state chairman, and he ran the campaign in Nebraska. Besides the personal rivalry between the two men, there has never been a very friendly feeling between Howell and the state administration.

Candidates May Balk.

Some of the candidates for state offices below governor do not take kindly to the proposition of giving the code law a party endorsement even Mr. Randall, the gubernatorial nominee, who help to push the law through as a member of the state senate and who has suported practically all of Govenor McKelvie's measures in the last two legislatures, is said to feel reluctant about becoming its sponsor in the campaign.

Because of the widespread dissatisfaction with the code law and the reign of high taxes which has accompanied it some of the candidates and party leaders feel that it would be extremely inadvisable for the party to put its O. K. stamp on the code system. They are doubtful even whether it would be beneficial to the G. O. P. ticket to have Governor McKelvie to go out and make speeches for it, owing to his championship of the code and the huge increases in state expenditures during his administration..shrd ta shrdl cmfw eta

May Consider Chairmanship.

In addition to discussing what the platform should and should not contain, the Saturday metting may give some attention to the selection of a new chairman for the state committee. Chairman McCloud will retire after the state convention, August 15 when a new committee will be its own officiers but will probably be guided in naming a chairman by the wishes of the canidates if they desire any particular man for the place.

It is not certain that all the state candidates will attend the session at the governor's mansion but the probability is that they will although some are nto at all enthusiastic about it.

Identifies Miller As Boy Who Escaped From State School

Charles Miller, 16, who was ordered committed to the Nebraska state industrial school for boys at Kearney by District Judge W. M. Morning, was identified by R. V. Clark, superintendent of the school, Thursday afternoon as one of two boys who escaped from the school last Friday night. Miller escaped with another boy named Eugene Reams, who was also caught. Mr. Clark came to Lincoln to return Reams to the industrial school. Both boys were confined in the county jail, and it was while preparing to take young Reams back that the superintendent discovered Miller, although that is said to be a fictitious name.

Young Miller was arrested after an exciting chase in Lincoln by police officers early this week. He is alleged to have attempted to break into a store at 1452 North Twenty-seventh street. He put up the story, following his arrest, that he has committed robberies in California and in Casper, Wyo., but telegraphic reports from those places failed to corroborate his story.

BIG INCREASE IN OUTPUT OF CARS

Burlington Claims Strike Has Lost Influence On Rolling Stock.

A two hundred percent increase in the number of cars repaired daily on the Burlington system between July 15 and July 31 is pointed out by E. P. Bracken, vice-president of the road, as evidence that the strike is losing any effect it ever had so far as the condition of the rolling stock is concerned.

On July 15, 340 loads and empties were repaired on the Burlington system while on July 31, there were 1,050 loads and empties repaired. Since July 15 there has been less than a 500 car increase in bad order cars, showing, officials declare, that the Burlington shops are working very nearly at full necessary strength.

O. E. Ward of the Lincoln roundhouse declares that with the overtime hours which many of the men put in, he turns out over fifty percent of a pre-strike output and that the amount is steadily increasing. The car repair men are averaging a car per man per day the usual average and he now has eighty-eight men on the repair tracks in the places of the 200 that struck.

On the lines west there were 2,500 men at work in the shops Thursday. The gain for the day was ninety-seven. Men employed at the Lincoln employment office were asked if they wanted permanent jobs and only those who said they did were accepted generally speaking. In the shops many old employes who were formerly familiar with the shop work are back and are picking up the trades they have neglected Burlington officials said. These are improving daily and as a consequence are turning out more work

WANTS CHANGE IN PROPOSED TITLE

C. A. Sorenson, after visiting the secretary of state's office Thursday afternoon and inspecting the ballot titles submitted by Attorney General Davis for the four referred laws to be voted upon in November, announced that he would appeal to the district court of Lancaster county and try to secure a judicial order changing the verbiage.

Sorenson said he did not think the attorney general had stated the questions properly. He himself will propose alternative ballot titles. It will then be the province of the court to determine which of them are the more accurate, or to draft titles itself in place of both.

ORDERS BOARD TO APPROVE HIS BOND

Court Sustains Walter Knutzen's Application for Mandamus.

Says State Must Pay For Work Done at Kearney Hospital.

The application of Henry A. Knutzen Kearney contractor and the Union Indemnity company of Louisiana for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the Nebraska state board of control to aprove the bond furnished by Knutzen for the erection of and addition to the state tuberculosis hospital at Kearney was sustained by District Judge Fred Shepherd Friday.

Knutzen was awarded the contract for the erection of the addition by the board of control on May 31 for $81,086. He claimed to have already performed $10000 worth of work upon the addition. The contractor and the bonding company also included Ellery Davis and Walter L. Wilson, architects for the board of control, in the suit, seeking to compel the architects to approve estimates for the work already done and to provide for payment of the same

The board of control refused to accept or aprove the bond furnished by Knutzen L. C. Oberlies, a member of the board, claiming that he considered the Union Indemnity company to be of insufficient and diminishing surplus. It was also claimed that the bond company was practically a new organization.

It developed during the hearing that the contract for the erection of the addition had not been signed, although the contractor has been working on the addition for two months. The judge's order requires the board to sign the contract and to proceed in all respects according to law.

MADE A SAVING OF ONE FOURTH

Expenditures in Two Funds Kept Down Under Economy Plan.

The Lancaster county board of commissioners, under the economy plan for the year just closed, saved $60,255.68 in the county general fund and $84,215.14 in the bridge fund. Under the economy program, the commissioners set out to keep expenditures in the general and bridge funds down to 85 per cent of the amounts available under the 1921 levy. The amount of taxes in the general fund e to be collected under the 191 levy was $309,600, and in the bridge fund, $137,600.

By keeping expenditures down to 85 per cent of the amount under the 1921 levy the commissioners would have saved $46,440 in the general fund and $20,640 in the bridge fund. But a greater saving than was contemplated was effected in both funds: the saving in the general fund amounting to $13,845.68 more than $46,440, and $13,675.14 more than $20,640 in the bridge fund. Thus, instead of 15 per cent of the commissioners succeeded in saving approximately 20 per cent in the general fund and nearly 25 per cent in the bridge fund.

Mewhorter Pleads Not Guilty to a Burglary Charge

Charles A. Mewhorter, recaptured convict, pleaded not guilty in Justice Hawes' court when arraigned on a complaint charging him with burglary at the home of C. E. Hinds, 2931 Ryons street, on July 8. Justice Hawes continued the case to 9 a. m., Wednesday, August 9, and Mewhorter was returned to the state penitentiary. The complaint was signed by Captain Anderson.

Mewhorter escaped from the reformatory on July 8 and was captured by Superintendent Gus Miller at Manhattan, Kan., several weeks ago.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

Do you know that the amount of gas used during the year 1920 was more than double the amount used in 1910 and more than three times the amount used in 1900?

There are in use in this country today six million seven hundred thousand gas ranges, one million four hundred thousan water heaters, and ten million incandescent gas burners, exclusive of arc lamps or street lamps.

The gas companies have on their books nine million customers, and the number of persons who use gas service for cooking their meals and lighting and heating their homes and places of business aggregate forty-five millions.

There are 70,000 miles of gas mains in the United States, or nearly enough to encircle the world three times.

The gas industry is performing an important service to the people of this country. If you are not making use of this service, we will gladly tell you how you can do so to your advantage.

Germany's Banks Fearing Seizure, Transfer Money

PARIS, Aug. 5. — German banks within the last forty-eight hours have transferred to Holland and Switzerland between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 French francs which had been on deposit in American and other foreign banks in Paris, the Associated Press learned this afternoon.

The money was hurriedly withdrawn, it is understood, in anticipation of it being seized by the French government as part of the penalties to be imposed upon Germany for her refusal to pay the 2,000,000 pounds sterling instalment due for private debts contracted before the war with Frenchmeg.

These penalties are to become effective beginning at noon tomorrow and although the exact nature has been carefully guarded by the government it has been assumed that all German bank deposits in France, Alsace Lorraine and possibly in occupied territory would be confiscated to meet this payment. It emphasized in official quarters that the funds on deposit in Paris were sufficient to pay more than half of the August debt settlement. The Paris deposits, it was learned, were withdrawn by telegraph and telephone, when Premier Poincare's last reply to the German government in this question was received in Berlin.

THOUSANDS FIGHT FIRES IN TIMBER

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 4.—From the Rocky mountains in Montana to the Columbia river in Washington and up to one hundred miles from the Canadian border, thousands of men are fighting against forest fires which seem to have nature on their side.

The particularly dry, hot, summer weather of the past two months, which reached its climax in thunderstorms lately has made the forest condition extremely critical. Lightning, which accompanies the storms has started more fires than the rains has checked and in most inacessible places.

A fire in Kanigsu forest, eastern Washington, last night had jumped the Idaho line, covering 750 acres, threatening the forest experiment station. The fire, according to latest official reports was headed northeast, through valuable government timber. This fire is fightable, however, and is not like several of the blazes started by lightning.

YOUNGEST COUNTY HAS SOME WEALTH

Arthur County Though Without Railroads, Worth Millions.

Arthur county, the youngest of Nebraska's children, which has no railroad lines and is as yet very sparsely settled, has over two and a half million dollars of property subject to assessment and taxes in 1922.

Douglas county, containing the chief population, financial and industrial center of the state, has a total assessed valuation of more than $355,000,000.

The wealth of Lancaster county, in which the state capitol and second largest city is situated, totals more than $170,000,000 on the records of State Tax Commissioner Osborne.

There are fourteen other counties which have over $50,000,000 each of property assessed for taxes this year. They are, with the amounts of each in round numbers, as follows:

Buffalo, $52,100,000; Butler, $50,500,000; Cass, $56,500,000; Cedar, $58,700,000; Cuming, $56,040,000; Custer, $50,028,000; Dodge, $64,300,000; Gage $71,700,000; Madison, $53,010,000; Otoe $57,800,000; Platte, $61,700,000; Saline, $51,100,000; Saunders, $69,500,000; York, $50,400,000.

Fifteen counties have each less than $10,000,000 of taxable wealth. The remaining sixty-two counties range from $10,000,000 up to $50,000,000 apiece.

WILFLEY RECEIVER OF ENDICOTT BANK

Judge Colby Disregards Recommendations of State Officers.

Refusing to accept the recommendation of the attorney general's office, the state banking bureau and a committee of bankers for the appointment of W. H. Snelly as receiver of the failed Endicott State Bank, Judge L. W. Colby at Beatrice named R. S. Wilfley of Steele City to take charge of the institution.

Assistant Attorney General Dort and State Trade and Commerce Secretary Hart appeared asking for Snelly's appointment, while Attorney J. C. Hartigan of Fairbury, representing some of the private interests, requested Wilfley's selection.

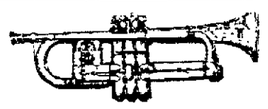

Judge Colby said he thought there might be some conflict of interest between the Goodrich bank of Fairbury, of which Snelly is the receiver and the Endicott bank, and for that reason he thought it would be well to have someone elese in charge. He also suggested that Wilfley lives a little closer to Endicott and would perhaps be able to look after things there better than Snelly, who resides at Fairbury.

SHUMWAY NAMED ON THREE TICKETS

Nominated by Democrats, Progressives and By Prohibitionists.

Bigelow Named By Dry Party For United States Senator.

The prohibition party ticket in Nebraska will be a good deal of a hodge-podge at the November election, as a result of the fact that only two persons were regularly filed on that ticket at the primaries and most of the nominations were made by writing in names.

A. H. Bigelow, defeated progressive candidate for U. S. senator, is the man favored for that office on the prohibition ticket, while J. N. Norton, who lost the democratic nomination for governor and thereby became ineligible for the progressive nomination, which he won, is the prohibition choice.

G. L. Shumway democratic and progressive nominee for state auditor, also got the prohibition nomination, so that his name will appear on three party tickets. John M. Johnson is the prohibition nominee for lieutenant governor, being on no other ticket. For railway commissioner, Fred C. Ayres, the democratic candidate, was nominated by the prohibition voters.

Following are congressional nominees on the dry party's ticket: First district (regular term), E. Luella Barton; Third, Edgar Howard, democratic nominee; Fourth, H. B. Cummins, democratic nominee.

Army Horses Lead In Endurance Test

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 4.—The nine horses still surviving in the annual western endurance race trotted away today on the fourth lap of the 300 mile grind. The route led over tortuous grades on the road to Canon City and return. Veterinarians, in charge of the contesting horses said today that the 180 miles already covered and the strenuous course to be traveled today would make today's grind the most difficult of the competition.

Remarkable time has been made thus far. Joy and Norfolk Star, army horses, are leading for the 180 miles.

HAMMER SHOWS GOODS TO WORRY CHAMPION BENNY

TEST FOR BENNY IN HAMMER BOUT

Hope Indicates Leonard Has a Second Lew Tendler On His Hands.

Chicago Boxer Makes Great Showing in His Final Training Workout.

BY ED W. SMITH.
(International News Service.)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 4.—Something new in the way of a training stunt developed here today in advance of the big lightweight championship contest that will be decided Saturday afternoon.

Ever Hammer of Chicago, who is battling Benny Leonard of New York for the latter's title at 135 pounds or thereabouts, went up on top of the sand bluff above Sheridan Beach road at 6 a. m. and went through ten of the toughest rounds that a man in training ever put in.

George Ferguson, his manager, is said to have conceived the idea of being away from all prying eyes in the final workout of the training period. The entire camp was routed out at 5:30 a. m. and within an hour, in the cool of the morning, with all of the available help, Hammer fought and clawed and battered his way through the entire gang, first one and then the other succumbing to the heavy punching of the challenger.

Hammer Flashes Punch.

Hammer came through this ordeal of speed and punching in great shape and one of his camp followers declared afterward it was a revelation to all of them.

Leonard lolled around the better part of the day with nothing on his mind but a bunch of road work and a little loosening up in the open air gymnasium. His damaged right eye does not look any too good and it's sure the champion will have to devise some sort of sure defense for the whirling, whistling attack of the challenger's fists and the swaying manner in which he uses his head as he swings into close quarters.

Benny Smiling and Confident.

Leonard is as smiling and apparently as care free as ever at the near approach of his contest, and kids with his friends and mates in the same hearty manner that he always did.

"I'm in good shape and will be in much better by Saturday afternoon, for the light work that I am doing is fitting me right back where I was when the Tendler fight was some distance away," the champion said.

Benny Plans Trip to Europe.

(Associated Press.)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 4.—After engaging in possibly one more ring contest, Benny Leonard, world's lightweight pugilistic champion, plans to sail for England, in quest of new opponents and to give his mother and sister the European trip that he has planned on since he took the championship from Freddie Welsh.

Leonard, according to announcement from his training camp here today, plans to sail for England about September 15, for an indefinite stay. He will meet Ever Hammer of Chicago in a ten-round bout here tomorrow afternoon.

He has been offered $50,000 for a 20-round bout with Ernie Rice, British titleholder, and also is negotiating for a contest with a German lightweight in Berlin. Before sailing, however, Benny may engage Pinkie Mitchell, brother of Ritchie Mitchell, in a ten-round contest in Milwaukee, August 25.

Bloomfield Plans Baseball Program For County Fair

(Special to The Star.)

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Aug. 4.—Five ball games will be featured at the Knox county fair to be held here September 12, 13, 14 and 15. The following is the tentative schedule:

September 12—Bloomfield vs. Wausa.

September 13.—Creighton vs. Niobrara.

September 14.—Winnetoon vs. Verdel.

September 15.—Wausa vs. Center, and Bloomfield vs. Plainview (doubleheader.)

All games will be umpired by Harry Sage of Omaha, who officiated at the games during last year's fair. Secretary Weber reports that from the inquiries coming in and reservations being made, the 1922 fair will even outclass last year's successful show.

The Tigers only won two games from the Red Sox simply because that was all the schedule called for—1 to 0 and 7 to 4. Pillette pitched dazzling ball in the first game, the Sox getting just two hits and nary a man beyond first base.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 4.—Prospects of a special tennis match between E. R. McCormick, city champion, and Ralph Powell, former state and city title-holder, took on a much brighter color yesterday when Powell returned to Omaha from a trip abroad.

Powell landed in New York City last Sunday and lost no time in hopping a rattler for Omaha. The former city champ surprised his parents as well as his Omaha friends, but pulled the biggest surprise of the day when he came right out and announced to the whole world that he would "be more than pleased" to engage one Mr. McCormick in a city championship tennis match.

To Enter Lincoln Tourney.

"I am going to enter the state tennis tournament at Lincoln next Monday and expect to meet McCormick in the play, as I understand that the new Omaha champ is also planning on entering the state tournament.

May Play Brown

No sooner had Powell blown into Omaha than Guy Williams, chairman of the tennis committee of the Omaha Field club, got busy and "burnt up the wires" between this burg and Sioux City, trying to get Wray Brown, the crack St. Louis player, to return to Omaha next Sunday for a special match with Powell. Brown at the present time, is competing in the interstate tennis tournament at Sioux City The tourney ends Saturday and Brown is expected to accept Williams' invitation to return to Omaha.

Powell says he will return to New York city late in September to resume his work as secretary to a wealthy New York woman.

BANKERS WIN ON RALLY IN SEVENTH

Pile Up Three Runs in Final Inning On Errors By Lee Broom Team.

Staging a three-run rally in the last frame of a seven inning commercial league game at ock Island park Thursday evening, the Lincoln Bankers won from the Lee Broom nine by the score of 4 to 1.

With the score tied in the seventh inning, the Duster backstop fumbled Van Riper's third strike and the Banker third sacker reached first. Before Caldwell could locate the ball in the left field clover, when Wright hit a hot grounder past shortstop, Van Riper had scored and Wright reached third. Wright scored when Youngscap hit a hot one to center field. The Duster team failed to settle down and two successive errors let Youngscap cross the platter for the third run.

Youngscap kept the hits of the Duster men well scattered and had it not been for the erratic support of his team mates in the third frame Youngscap would have held the Lee Brooms scoreless. The score:

TITLE TO MEYERS AS MIDDLE KING

Chicago Grappler Flattens Miller; Latter Bids for Return Match.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Walter Miller of Los Angeles said today that while Johnny Meyers of Chicago beat him, "fair and square," in their match here last night to determine which had the better claim to the title of middleweight wrestling champion of the world, he did not believe Meyers could do it again.

"I want a return match," said Miller. "I have posted a forfeit of $500 for another meeting, with side bets of $1,000 and provisions to make the weight of 158 pounds ringside. If I don't beat Meyers under these conditions, I'll quit the game."

Ban's League Plans to Block the Trick of Buying Pennant

(Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—Restrictions on the exchange of players in the major leagues will be one of the principal matters to be brought up at the meeting of the American league officials next December, according to Ban Johnson, who conferred with the officials of the local American league club here yesterday.

The waiver route, Mr. Johnson added, would probably be made the only method by which the change can be made on a team's roster after the beginning of the season.

Mr. Johnson declined to discuss the Boston-New York deal. While the subject of the conference here was not announced, it is known that Mr. Johnson discussed general matters in connection with arrangements for a world's series, such as increasing the seating capacity at Sportsman's park. At present, seats can be provided for at least 19,000, to which approximately 7,000 seats could be added by building extensions

The attendance so far this year at American league games, Mr. Johnson said, had increased 155,000 over for the same period of last year.

PAPERS SIGNED COMPLETING DEAL FOR CLEVELAND

DEAL IS CLOSED FOR CLEVELAND

Moon and Segrist Sign the Papers Involving Sale of Third-Sacker.

CLEVELAND ON WAY TO PLAY WITH THE LINKS

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Aug. 4.—Third Baseman Dick Cleveland, sold for a cash consideration to the Lincoln club, pulled out for the capital city Friday morning to report to Manager Buck Beltzer. George Segrist, president of the Fairbury club, said today that Cleveland is in physical trim to get into a Lincoln uniform in Friday afternoon's game with the Hastings Cubs.

President Segrist also announced a re-arrangement of the Norfolk series, scheduled to be played in Fairbury Aug. 7, 8 and 9. The Monday game will be played in Fairbury, the Tuesday game at Hebron, Neb., and the Wednesday game at Fairbury in the morning. The switch to Wednesday morning will enable the Coyotes to make the drive to Friend, where they will meet the Friend team Wednesday afternoon in an exhibition game.

Purchase and transfer of Third Baseman Dick Cleveland, which makes him a member of Lincoln's State league club, was completed Thursday afternoon during Secretary Charley Moon's rush trip to Fairbury. Release papers were signed by President Segrist of the Fairbury club, and Cleveland, agreeing to the transfer, was scheduled to show up in a Lincoln uniform Friday afternoon in time for the opening game of the Hastings series at Landis Field.

Secretary Moon, returning Friday morning from Fairbury, explained that Cleveland's injured ankle may not be in condition to permit him to get into the Friday game, yet he said he felt certain that the Links' new third-sacker, the State league's premier performer in his position, would be in action not later than Sunday afternoon.

Links Look Like the Goods.

Owners of the Lincoln club are taking encouragement from the success of the negotiations for Cleveland, believing they have rounded up the strongest infield combination in the league and that the Links, with Pitcher Scott in shape to take his turn on the mound, are in favorable position to overhaul the leaders and win the second split season.

The Links had their trip to Norfolk for nothing. The Tuesday and Wednesday games were cancelled, due to the flood damage at the Norfolk park, and even the Thursday doubleheader arranged to be staged at Madison was called off on account of rain.

When the Links first hit Norfolk Tuesday morning it was apparent to Manager Buck Beltzer that it would be impossible for the management of the Elkhorns to get their park in shape for baseball this week, and Manager Buck proposed that the series be transferred to Lincoln. Manager Runt Marr, however, refused to consider the suggestion, admitting that the Elkhorns preferred to be idle rather than take the chance of losing games.

New Talent for Beatrice.

Beatrice Sun: Manager Ducky Holmes, who has been after more players to strengthen the Blues in their fight for the pennant, said last night that by the end of the week the Blues' personnel would be complete. He has secured Pitcher Jack Bonnelly from the Denver Western league club who is to report at once. Bonnelly had a goodly string of victories chalked up to his credit and should prove a great help to the Blues whose pitching staff is weak at present. Letty Daniels, a former Omaha Buffalo hurler, is to report Friday Manager Holmes has been trying to get Daniels for some time and his success speaks well for Ducky's ability as a manager. Another new fielder, Thompson, will also report before the end of the week. Thompson is touted as a whizz in the field and a .300 hitter.

Bankers Bid for Sunday Contest

The Lincoln Bankers of the local Commercial league are in the market for Sunday games out of town. Managers of Nebraska teams may communicate with Manager Hosic at the Continental State bank.

Members of the Modern Woodmen 999 team will stage a practice workout Friday evening at 6 o'clock on the state university campus in preparation for their game at Agnew next Sunday.

The Crete Mills baseball nine defeated the second team of the state reformatory, 3 to 1, Thursday night in a six-inning game played on the reformatory diamond.

THE ? BOX

Q.: Runner on first and nobody out. Batter hits fly to short right field. It was a hard chance and the right fielder muffed the ball, while going at full speed, but recovered the ball in time to get a forceout on the runner, who feared a catch and double play and therefore stayed near first. Was this play an error by the right fielder? If not an error, should the batter get credit for a hit?—S. C., Lincoln.

A.: Undoubtedly a hit had there been no forceout at second. Right fielder should not be charged with an error, because he retired the runner at second and, therefore, there was no advancement. As the right fielder forced out the runner at second, the batter does not get a hit. No hit can be credited to a batter when a runner is forced out. This may seem, at times, to be an injustice, yet it is the rule in the book.

Q.: Runners on second and first. Batter hits ball, which hit the umpire, standing behind the pitcher. Runner from second had a long lead and scores. Should the run count?—G. E., Omaha.

A.: Runner at second may advance one base, as stated by the rule, but should be sent back to third. Give batter credit for a hit in such a case. If umpire hit by batted ball before being touched by an infielder, batter always gets a hit and each runner on bases may advance one base—but one base only—provided he is forced to advance by reason of batter becoming a base runner. See Sec. 6, Rule 53.

Skin-beauty—the result of simple cleansing

A normal complexion has both beauty and remarkable powers of resistance—if properly cared for.

But proper care is a simple matter.

It doesn't involve the application of soaps and various preparations which promise magical beauty from complicated and constant manipulation.

If daily washing with a pure, mild soap fails to keep your skin healthy and attractive, you probably need expert medical advice.

Don't rely upon soap for any purely medical purpose. The very best medical authorities say, "Medicated soaps are unnecessary, and usually harmful to the normal skin."

Use soap to keep the skin clean—to clean is soap's only duty, and cleanliness is the only desirable result of its use.

In supplying Ivory Soap for the gentle cleansing of the skin, we are supported, not only by medical authority, but by the results of 43 years of experience in the manufacture of this pure, mild soap, which has been the safe beauty soap of millions of women.

Ivory Soap has but one purpose—to cleanse safely. It promises no magic except the magic of healthful, refreshing cleanliness. And cost what it may, soap can provide nothing more desirable.

IVORY SOAP

99 44/100% PURE IT FLOATS

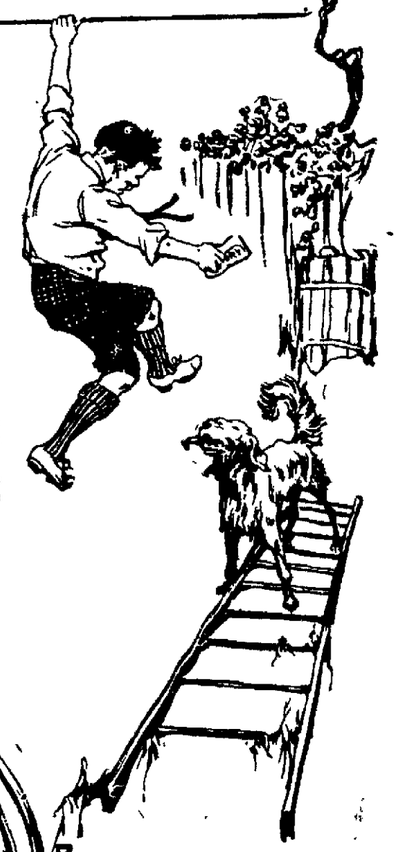

"You wouldn't have used that soap on your face, would you?" Mrs. Jollyco is asking.

Now, what a question! Mrs. Jollyco knows very well that Mrs. Foiderol would not use on her face a soap that has ruined that beautiful silk blouse of hers.

But wait!—Perhaps Mrs. Jollyco has a purpose!

"Of course not!" replies Mrs. F., indignantly. "It's much too strong for that!"

"Well," declares Mrs. Jollyco, "silks as delicate as that always seem to me as sensitive to soap as my skin. I wouldn't think of using anything but Ivory Flakes for a blouse like that, my dear, because I've used Ivory on my face for years, and Ivory Flakes is just Ivory Soap—flaked."

In his wanderings with Ulysses, Bobby spied a cake of Ivory Soap just under the last paragraph of the text above. Knowing that his mother used Ivory for everything, he got a ladder. Ulysses, meanwhile, took a notion to scratch his back on the ladder, with the painful result pictured here.

We can't wait to see how Bobby gets down, but he's pretty sure to keep the Ivory Soap.

We said awhile ago that Mr. Jollyco intended to speak sternly to his daughter Sally about what he calls her "comic opera soap"—the colored soap she will use on her face. Our picture shows him doing it.

"Daddy, darling," says Salty, "please don't be mad with me! I must be beautiful!"

"Sally," Mr. J. is going to say when—and if—he gets the chance, "an old sweetheart of mine was more beautiful even than you. She used nothing but Ivory Soap. I still see her use Ivory every day, and she is still beautiful."

How we wish Mrs. Jollyco could be eavesdropping!

A Flaked Soap which meets the important safety test

Before you trust your costly fine fabrics to any soap in any form, a doubt naturally comes up in your mind.

"Is this soap really safe?"

Ask yourself: "Would I be willing to use this soap on my face?"

A soap which is too strong for your face is naturally too strong for your delicate and costly garments.

Ivory Flakes is simply Ivory Soap in flake form. Of course it fully meets this important safety test.

For Ivory Soap, pure, mild, gentle, white—has protected the faces and hands of millions of women since 1879.

Ivory Flakes offers you a real margin of safety for cleansing the very finest garments you own.
